"Depression Only Temporary
Halt In Prosperity Of

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—President Hoover returned to the Capital at 9:30 a. m. today from his initial foray into the field of off-year politics—a trip which saw him chart the position of his party on the current business depression, and enunciate the doctrine that, depression or not, there shall be no lowering of the American standard of living because of it.

Before an audience of some seven thousand bankers, members of the American Banking Association, Mr. Hoover last night declared his faith in the fundamental soundness of the country's economic system, and asserted that: "Any recession in American business is but a temporary halt in the prosperity of a great people."

Asks Optimism

He appealed to the bankers to be optimistic but to exercise sober judgment in the economic crisis through which the country is passing, and at the same time he admonished the "die-hards" among them not to seek advantage in the circumstances that now prevail.

Plan To Invite State Convention

Sunday School Leaders Of County To Present Invitation

CONVENTION HERE IN RECENT YEARS

It was voted to extend an invitation to the Pennsylvania State Sabbath school Association Convention which convenes in Scranton next week, October 8, 9 and 10, to hold the 1931 Convention in New Castle, in action was taken by the executive Committee of the Lawrence County Sabbath School at its annual meeting in the parlor of the Y. W. C. A. Thursday evening. At this meeting it was brought out that various religious and civic bodies of the city had been asked concerning entertaining the convention and that all were enthusiastically in favor of it.

While it has only been four years since the convention convened in New Castle, for the past three years it has been in the eastern part of the state. Then too, the New Castle convention was the largest in number of delegates attending, of any convention in the State Association's history. While the convention assembled may choose some other city, still they will look with favor on New Castle and New Castle will not appear as persistent as Williamsport for this city in the central part of the state extends an invitation for the state convention every year. There will be a good delegation from Lawrence County headed by the county president, Robert M. Strickler, Jr., to extend the invitation and the Chamber of Commerce has offered to see that this invitation is backed by telegrams

Luncheon

PLANS FOR IMPROVING PLANT ROAD ARE MADE

Cooperation Of City And County Officials Is Promised At Meeting

J. S. BURTON

Officials of Burton Explosives, Inc., were guests of the board of directors of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce at the luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Thursday at noon, when they were welcomed to New Castle and given every assurance that the citizens of New Castle would cooperate with them in their various undertakings.

Those in the party included President and General Manager Joseph S. Burton, Vice President and Treasurer L. E. Weitz, Assistant General Manager F. B. Harlan, Plant Superintendent Paul Forcey, Director of Research and Development A. S. Fox and M. S. Kincaid, special sales representative.

Other guests of the Chamber of Commerce were H. T. Frushour, superintendent of the E. & A. division of the Pennsylvania Railroad company; C. W. Van Nort, division engineer of the P. R. R.; F. M. Brown, superintendent of the P. & L. E. railroad; E. W. Boots, engineer in charge of maintenance of way of the P. & L. E. and George W. Hamilton, local agent; S. H. Rhoads, freight agent; J. L. Thomas, terminal trainmaster of the B. & O. railroad; H. E. Miller of the Erie railroad; L. B. Round, superintendent of the P. & O. system; Adolph Green, president of the Peoples Savings & Trust Co.; Roy M. Jamison, attorney; Hon. W. H. Gillespie, mayor of the city; Councilmen C. H. Reeves, W. T. Burns and W. Stanley Treiser and T. A. Gilkey, county engineer.

Tell of Company's Plans.

The meeting was held primarily for the purpose of welcoming to New Castle the officials of Burton Explosives Inc., who are now establishing their plant in New Castle. President Burton and Vice President Weitz both spoke briefly of the plans of the company and what they had in store for the city of New Castle.

They stated that the plant would be rushed to completion as soon as possible and that they hoped to add materially to the industrial and business development of the city.

One of the other purposes of the meeting was to devise ways and means of giving the Burton company a better road to their new plant, and

Backed Up To Barnyard, Where Cows Were Loaded In And Driven Away

One of the most unusual robberies perpetrated in this section for some time occurred at the Willowdell farm near Darlington, when thieves backed a truck into a barnyard, loaded up two cows and drove away.

Charles Johnson, proprietor of the farm, and his family were asleep when the robbery was perpetrated.

Detectives said they were able to see the tracks of the truck where it had backed up to a barnyard corral.

Evidence showed that the two cows had been driven through a gate into the corral, from which they were easily

loaded into the truck. So far no clue has been discovered.

DISPOSITION OF $200 FUND PUZZLES DISTRICT ATTORNEY

What to do with $200.00 confiscated in the arrest of "number writers" some weeks ago is puzzling District Attorney John S. Powers. The number men were convicted and sentenced and the pool money taken is in the hands of the county detective.

Another suggested that the money should go to the county treasurer.

At any rate, the district attorney has $200 in his possession along with the county detective, good American money, and thus far he is in the position of a stakeholder who doesn't know who won.

Chest Workers Meet Tonight For Reports

General Campaign Workers
Will Also Attend Meeting
To Plan For Drive

SNAPPY MEETING
LOOKED FORWARD TO

Cards Of Prospects In General
Campaign Will Be Given
Workers

All Community Chest workers, both those engaged in the Advanced Gift campaign, and those who are to assist in the general drive opening Monday morning, will meet promptly at 7:30 this evening in the lecture rooms of the P. and O. company for reports and the discussion of plans for the general campaign.

At the last report meeting, over $2,000 had been reported in advanced gifts, and this sum is expected to be pushed over the $30,000 mark at tonight's meeting.

TO DISMISS EARLY FOR FOOTBALL GAME

Because of the fact that many of the team workers in the Community Chest campaign have already made arrangements to attend the football game tonight, President Grace Phillips Johnson and Chairman James A. Chambers promise that the meeting will be conducted as speedily as possible and those who attend will be released in time to attend the game or any other meeting they have planned for.

Because of the fact that this will be the last meeting prior to the opening of the general campaign on Monday morning, it is urged by the heads of the Chest that all executive board members, Advanced Gift workers, team captains and general campaign workers attend tonight's meeting. Cards will be handed out at this time for the general campaign.

If these workers cooperate with the heads of the Community Chest and report promptly at 7:30, the meeting will be speeded up and the business of the evening can be transacted quickly.

Arrangements for the general campaign will be discussed briefly and pointedly, and the workers will be given an opportunity to do some preliminary work prior to the opening of the general campaign with the breakfast Monday morning.

four inches this morning than it was last Saturday. It is believed that considerable rain has been experienced in the Pymatuning Swamp district.

Applications for 1931 automobile license tags will be placed in the mails October 15, and Pa Newc just imagines that the department will be swamped with requests for owners initials and various combinations of letters and figures.

The weather this morning was not quite as cold as it has been for several days, and for the first time this week, frost failed to develop. The minimum temperature was 40 degrees this morning.

Pa Newc saw the evidence of some motorist's misfortune in the shape of a badly torn inner tube in Sycamore alley this morning. It looked as if someone has suffered some distressing tire trouble.

As a rule, if one meets a big truck in a tight place, it is the owner of the smaller car who has to back up; but an exception was noticed this morning, when a small car and big truck met in one of the narrow alleys downtown. Another machine was parked at the point and the two could not pass. The driver of the truck graciously backed up and allowed the smaller car to pass. This happens most infrequently.

There is going to be a nice little affair in Philadelphia October 9, according to a pretty little card received this morning by one of the Pa Newc family from Harry A. Mackey, Philadelphia mayor. It is to be a dinner in honor of Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte.

If Pa Newc remembers rightly Tuesday, October 7, is the date for a partial eclipse of the moon, invisible in United States. Guess we will have to go abroad if we want to see the phenomenon.

The fact that dirt streets in the city are now being scraped and placed into shape for the winter merits commendation. It is the hope of street department heads that New Castle's thoroughfares will be maintained at all times.

Still the state's inspection of motor cars goes on, and Pa Newc understands that some machines are failing to pass. Drivers who up until now have neglected to have theirs examined had better get busy. Not very much time remains to do so.

One of these days children in the city schools will get their toxin-anti-toxin treatments as a preventative measure against diphtheria. Out in the townships of the county, medical directors are making their biannual rounds to determine the health of the children.

In securing Dr. Gary C. Myers authority of child matters, to come here in November, the Highland and Arthur McGill P. T. A. Chapters have displayed once again the high purpose of other units in the city to obtain the best speakers possible, and fortunate they are when men like Dr. Myers consent to speak.

Pa Newc saw a peculiar accident Thursday afternoon on East North St. there was a coupe parked on the north side of the street near East St. with no one in it, and a large sedan rounded the corner coming pretty close to the coupe, when just as it passed the door of the coupe sprung open catching a window in the sedan and breaking it into many pieces. Of course, within a few minutes quite a crowd gathered but seeing no one was hurt and no other damage done to the cars, they soon dispersed.

Pa Newc noted two small headlights approaching through the darkness on one of the city streets last night, and was rather perplexed. It couldn't be a bantam car. As the lights came nearer, it was discovered that they were on a police motorcycle, the motorcycle cop having two headlights burning on the front of his machine.

bites and jellies to be gathered from the churches of the county and the various organizations and societies that are supporting the movement.

The fact that dirt streets in the city are now being scraped and placed into shape for the winter merits commendation. It is the hope of street department heads that New Castle's thoroughfares will be maintained at all times.

Residents of East New Castle, according to one today, that the New Castle Electric Co. will construct some kind of a shelter house for the patrons at the Cascade park terminal to protect them from the elements while waiting for cars this winter.

Ladders were raised up against the First Christian church this morning, and painters, brushes in hand, began freshening up the outside trimmings of the building. The gas main was under the floor and Kennedy is reported to have lifted some floor boards to hunt for the leak.

There was more applause when he paid tribute to the banker as the economic guide and counsellor of the business man of today.

The President paid his full heed of tribute to the power of the bankers in dealing with the existing economic situation. He appealed to them to use liberal judgment in extension of credit, to bring their tremendous influence to bear on the side of "good time psychology," and not to hesitate when it came to extending credit at moderate rates of interest.

"Without faith on your part and without good offices," he said, "the early return to full prosperity cannot be accomplished."

"A continued unity of effort, both in our present situation and in safeguards for the future, is the need of today. No one can contribute more than our banking community."

Faith In Nation

"I profess my own undaunted faith in those mighty spiritual and intellectual forces of liberty, self government, initiative, invention and courage, which have driven us ever forward. These forces, which express the true genius of our people, are undiminished. They have already shown their ability to resist this immediate shock, and recession in American business is but a temporary halt in the prosperity of a great people."

Even as Mr. Hoover was addressing his audience of the cream of the country's bankers, there was staged outside the Cleveland auditorium a sizeable communist demonstration that for a time had the police acutely worried.

From the time the President arrived in Cleveland until he left was made aware of the radical opposition to his administration and to the economic situation which they attributed to it.

Placards such as "Hoover Leads the Wage Cutters" greeted his arrival at the Hotel Cleveland, where a waiters strike has been in progress. During the afternoon, the public square in Cleveland, in front of the hotel, was filled with communist orators and unemployed workers who constituted the audience.

The communists staged a demonstration outside the auditorium in which the President spoke as a counter attraction to the president's speech. There were more inflammatory banners and placards, and as the presidential party left the hotel for the auditorium, one speaker shouted: "While workers are starving, the bankers and their presidents have nine thousand chickens."

Closely Guarded

The activities of the communists in the auditorium were observed by the sympathizers caused the secret service operatives and the police some anxious moments, at one time the proposition was considered of having the meeting in the public square, sacred to the cause of free speech since the days of Tom Johnson, stopped, but in the end it was decided to let them have their say.

With his return to the Capital today, the President will have two days of rest before starting out again, this time for Boston where on Monday he will address the American Legion and the American Federation of Labor. A fast overnight run will be necessary to get him to Kings Mountain, on the North Carolina-South Carolina border, where he speaks on Tuesday.

It was one of the most enthusiastic and largely attended meetings of the board held in some time.

PRESIDENT DECLARES AGAINST ANY LOWERING OF LIVING STANDARDS

order to reply to some of the administration critics during the bankers' convention, Mr. Hoover was emphatic that there should be no wage cutting in the present depression.

With obvious reference to speeches that have been made before the bankers' convention to the effect that the present standard of living in America is too high, the President said: "It appears from the press that some one suggested in your discussion that our American standards of living should be lowered."

No Lowering of Standards

To that I emphatically disagree. I do not believe it represents the views of this association. Not only do I not accept such a theory, but the contrary, the whole purpose and ideal of this economic system, which is distinctive to our own country, is to increase the standard of living by the adoption and the constantly widening diffusion of invention and discovery amongst the whole of our people.

Any retreat from our American philosophy of constantly increasing standards of living becomes a retreat into perpetual unemployment and acceptance of some cesspool of poverty for some large part of our people."

No Surrender

The bankers listened to President Hoover's speech with close attention, punctuated occasionally by applause. The first handclapping was heard when he expressed his "complete confidence in the future of the United States." It was heard again when he asserted that "this was not the time nor the place to talk of surrender" to the economic forces which have brought American business down from the high place it occupied a year ago.

There was more applause when he paid tribute to the banker as the economic guide and counsellor of the business man of today.

The President paid his full heed of tribute to the power of the bankers in dealing with the existing economic situation. He appealed to them to use liberal judgment in extension of credit, to bring their tremendous influence to bear on the side of "good time psychology," and not to hesitate when it came to extending credit at moderate rates of interest.

SUE HARVARD
SINGS FOR STUDENTS

Dr. J. Linwood Isenberg, president of the Slippery Rock State Teachers college was one of the audience in the cathedral Tuesday evening to hear Sue Harvard sing her beautiful concert and he was so impressed with the quality of her voice and the perfect technique of the performer that he requested her to sing before the students at Slippery Rock.

Thursday morning Miss Harvard went to Slippery Rock and presented a program of fifteen numbers before 800 students of the college in the school auditorium and her voice rang sweet and true as she sang great many old numbers, which she gave Tuesday night, at the request of Dr. Isenberg. Part of her numbers were sung to organ accompaniment. Miss Geberich, one of the college teachers, at the console; others were sung to piano accompaniment. Miss Sander son, another teacher, at the piano.

Miss Harvard closed her concert with "Open the Gates of the Temple". The students received the concert most enthusiastically, most of them appreciating the wonderful ability of the artist.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beighley proved delightful hosts Thursday evening when they received members of the Third U. P. church in their home on Delaware avenue.

Following business the social committee took charge and offered a number of new and novel games and stunts as diversions.

Crime Never Pays

RAMBLING AROUND THE TOWN

UNLESS there is a record outpouring of New Castle citizens at the registration booths tomorrow, Saturday, there are going to be a lot of slacker citizens in New Castle when November 4 rolls around. They'll have to sit on the sidelines and criticize while others do the voting. There is no excuse for any man or woman in New Castle who is eligible not seeing to it that he or she is properly registered and qualified to vote. Saturday is the last opportunity. Don't allow any lethargy at this time to disenfranchise you. We will wager a forecast that you'll be only too eager to vote on November 4. There will be plenty of live issues. Men and women—Register!

Although a severe blow has been struck at the Blair Strip Steel company by the disastrous fire of this week, which levelled the main building, and destroyed much of the machinery at the plant, the officials announce that the plant will be in operation in the new building within thirty days and that the fire ruined structure will be rebuilt. The officials of the Blair Strip Steel company in the past few years have made it one of the leading industries of the city, and the same business ability and determination that have made it a mighty successful plant, are behind the plans for rushing the work of fitting up the new building and rebuilding the one that was destroyed. The industry will rise stronger, larger and greater than ever within a short time, we are confident.

It would be well for the Mercer county authorities to give some attention to the plea for paving of the highway from New Wilmington to Mercer, and it would be a good thing for those interested in this route to get into action. It is the only connecting link of any consequence in this district that is not as yet completed. If this route is not completed soon, agitation for a connection to the Perry Highway from Volant may get some results that would eliminate much need for the New Wilmington to Mercer road. It would give a short route to Mercer and the road connections there. As it is, most of the travel between New Castle and Mercer during the winter will be via Harlansburg and the Perry Highway, because of the all concrete highway provided.

With the hunting season coming on apace, it is to be hoped that rains of considerable proportion arrive before the army of hunters gets into the woods. Despite all precautions, with the drought that has prevailed during the past summer, the woods and fields are exceptionally dry, and fires are more than likely. If ever there was occasion for using safety first on the part of those entering the woods for hunting purposes it is at present.

It seems to us that there is a good field for some real work on the part of some welfare agency in New Castle and Lawrence county, by establishing an employment agency in connection with their efforts here; especially one in which those seeking workers for odd jobs could get in touch with persons willing to do that kind of work. The Legion did a fine piece of work in this line last spring, and it is a service that some agency should continue with fall and winter coming on.

It is kind of hard to reconcile some facts. On one side we hear the declaration that the depression is still holding us in its grip and on the other we read that New Castle citizens during the past three months paid over $12,000 for the privilege of playing on the municipal golf course.

We don't know whether it was the purchase of a power machine to clean the streets that is responsible or not, but we are frank to say that we believe that the streets of New Castle have been kept better cleaned during the past few months than ever in the city's history. And there's nothing that benefits a city any more than clean streets. Keep up the good work.

Simple-hearted men sold Manhattan Island for $24, not suspecting how that island and land adjoining across the East River would develop. New York City, with more than 7,000,000 population, has real estate assessed at nineteen billion seven hundred million dollars, which means that it is worth at least thirty billions.

Impressive, and worth remembering is the fact that if the Indians had put their $24 out at 6 per cent with compound interest they would have enough money now to buy Manhattan Island several times over.

The difficulty is that you can't make that sort of compound interest investment, whereas you can buy a good piece of real estate, take care of it, and later have it take care of you.

Our crime wave is bad, but news from China says it might be worse. South of Kansu, bandits captured a town and killed everybody in it, 8,000 persons, except some young girls, carried off as prizes.

If you think some men cannot keep a secret just ask some drunk when you see one where he got his hooch.

Parent-Teacher Leader Outlines Movement Aims

National Secretary Asks For Continuation Of Splendid Efforts Here

ADDRESS FEATURES COUNTY CONFERENCE

Leaders of the Parent-Teacher movement in Lawrence county, meeting in the senior high school auditorium last night under the auspices of the Lawrence County Parent-Teacher council, heard their national secretary, Mrs. E. P. Roe of Washington, D. C., present a most interesting and comprehensive resume of association activities the country over.

Speaking for the national association, Mrs. Roe urged the assembled fathers, mothers and teachers to continue their good P. T. A. work, and complimented Pennsylvania in general on its efficient, smooth-running organization. Last night's program marked the third annual conference for the county's officers.

Challenge Given.

"Take as your aim a standard Parent-Teacher chapter," Mrs. Roe challenged in her opening remarks. "Make it your objective to set up a model organization and as a result will come better homes, better schools and better communities for better children." At the outset, she added, the secretary said she would confine her remarks to the subject "The P. T. A. Movement." She had been scheduled to speak on two different themes.

Owing to the unexpected length of a tea in Mrs. Roe's honor, the session last night did not get under way until after 8 o'clock. The lateness of the starting hour made it necessary to shorten the conference program somewhat.

County President Mrs. Earle E. Sweesy, active member of the West Side P. T. A. called the conference to order. A verse of "America" and the Lord's prayer followed, after which came a period of Parent-Teacher songs. Mrs. H. P. Meehan led the singing, with Mrs. J. L. Reed at the piano.

State Officer Here.

Mrs. Sweesy's first act after the program had started was to introduce Mrs. J. N. Bulford, of Pittsburgh, fourth vice president of the Pennsylvania P. T. A. organization. Visiting this city at frequent intervals, Mrs. Bulford declared that she has a keen interest in association work in New Castle. She announced that the state convention of Pennsylvania chapters would convene at Sunbury, October 14.

Mrs. Roe was presented and delivered her message after Mrs. Bulford's talk. Mrs. Bulford introduced her.

Chief among the points stressed during the national officer's informative discourse was the fact that P. T. A.'s should place more interest in the child. As Mrs. Roe termed it, "it is the child for whom the Parent-Teacher associations are working." She warned against losing sight of that main objective in the work. Most of her remarks centered about the duties of the six standing P. T. A. committees.

When she had concluded the address, Mrs. Roe, with the assistance of Mrs. Bulford conducted a question box for the benefit of those in attendance. Numerous problems confronting local chapters were solved, and light on other perplexing difficulties was given.

Present during the evening was Dr. C. C. Green, representing the schools of the city. He spoke just before the conference adjourned, complimenting the county council on having such an able speaker as its guest. He re-emphasized the school administration's desire to co-operate with all Parent-Teacher work.

School principals from both the city and county were out to hear Mrs. Roe last night, as well as the leading parent and teachers of different county chapters.

Song Festival To Take Place At Niles Soon

Welsh People Of New Castle Invited To Fourth Annual Gymna Ganu

The fourth annual Gymna Ganu, sponsored by the Druid club of Niles will be held in the McKinley auditorium on Sunday afternoon and evening, October 5.

This song festival ranks with those held in Youngstown and other larger cities that have drawn large crowds, like festivals from Youngstown, Sharon, New Castle, Warren, in fact from all towns in Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania.

In the afternoon session and the evening session Mr. William Albert Hughes, noted choral conductor of Cleveland will conduct the singing, and Mrs. Albert Williams of the city will be the accompanist. T. Herbert Davies, accomplished tenor, will be the soloist for the afternoon, and Thos. H. Evans, Niles baritone, will be the soloist for the evening. An added attraction will be the Cleveland Welsh Male Chorus, led by Mr. Hughes, which will render several choral numbers, during the two sessions.

During the afternoon session the massed choir will sing "Worthy is the Lamb" Handels Messiah and in the evening "Hallelujah Chorus" by the same author.

In addition to many favorite and familiar Welsh hymns, the afternoon session will be presided over by the Rev. Joseph H. Lloyd, D. D. of Youngstown and in the evening by Daniel E. Morgan, city manager of Cleveland will be the chairman.

Arrangements for lunches for visitors have been made. The ladies of the Welsh American club of Niles have undertaken this work and will serve lunch between the session in the Christian church parish house. A special announcement is made of the First Trumbull county Eisteddfod that will be held in the McKinley Memorial auditorium, Niles, on November 15. Arthur Thomas, 618 W. Park avenue, Niles, is secretary of the committee and will furnish information to all those interested in the competitive festival.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Physical Director McNichols reports that a record attendance was found at opening gym activities this week. On Thursday five classes, two of them volleyball classes and the other three regular physical education groups, consisted of 75 boys and men.

Classes to start the season Thursday were the Junior B's, Junior employed boys and young men, or senior class, regular physical training classes; noon businessmen and King Tut volleyball business men's class, volleyball ball classes.

The meeting in the reading room Wednesday of the Ben Franklin Hi-Y resulted in the election of Solomon Waldman and Samuel Reich as president and vice president, respectively, of the group. Twenty-five were present. Daniel Raciappi, advisor, was in charge of the meeting.

Raciappi gave a talk entitled, "Charity and Giving" stressing the importance of the city's community chest campaign. The club held a discussion of future business. The following were admitted to membership:

Moran Holton, Richard Safford, George Hawn and Charles Earl. The club will hold a steak fry at the "Y" Slippery Rock camp Wednesday.

New Paving Is Uncovered Now

Burlap covers have been removed from the strip of cement paving that was laid on the north side of Butler avenue last week. The paving appears to be a good job and local people are anxious to see the work completed.

Rankin Speaks Armistice Day

Address Will Be Made At Cathedral As Closing Feature Of Day

MEMORIAL SERVICE DURING EVENING

Program at the auditorium of the Cathedral on the evening of Tuesday, November 11, will climax the most wonderful observance of Armistice Day that has ever been held in this city.

It is to be one part of the days program which will be devoted to speaking, but there will be but one address, and it will be of such outstanding character that every former service man and woman and all those in any way interested in their welfare will want to be present and hear it.

This address will be given by Congressman John E. Rankin of Tupelo, Mississippi, a veteran of both the Spanish American and World Wars and the leading exponent in congress of the ex-service men and their needs.

Generally an address on such an occasion and along the line that this will be, would be dry, tiresome, because of the dull statistics that would be involved, but it can be said of Congressman Rankin, that he turns the statistics into living, inspiring thoughts that keeps his audience interested and eagerly awaiting his next word.

There will of course be another side to the evening's program, which will be short, that will be of interest, according to Dr. H. H. Rosenthal, who is busy arranging the details.

There will be the memorial service to deceased World War Veterans by the Lawrence County Unit, Women's Overseas Service League and numbers by the Red Arrow Quartet of Pittsburgh, one of the outstanding broadcasting quartets of the country.

Negotiations are about completed for the appearance of this famous musical organization.

The doors will open at seven in case of moonshine overproduction we may expect someone to start a buy-a-gallon movement.—The Florence (Ala.) Herald.

o'clock on that evening, giving those desiring to attend an opportunity to get in and get settled before the program is under way. For entertainment of those arriving early during the period that they will be required to wait for the start of the regular program, there will be an organ recital on the famous organ of the Cathedral. This concert in itself will be well worth hearing.

While there have been numerous celebrations of the Western Pennsylvania district invited to be present at this session, there will be but one address, so that everybody is expected to come and enjoy themselves to the utmost.

Military Funeral For Earl Gallagher

McBride Post Of V. F. W. To Assist With Military Honors Saturday Morning

Arrangements have been completed by members of the Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for military honors to be paid to Earl C. Gallagher, former local world war veteran and a member of the McBride Post, who died at the home of his sister, Mrs. A. J. McNulty, of 531 Spruce street, Sharon, early Thursday morning.

Funeral services will be held from St. Joseph's church in Sharon at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, and members of the post are requested to meet at the Legion Home Association building promptly at 8 o'clock. All members with cars who can attend are asked to bring their machines for the accommodation of the others.

Members of the Sharon V. F. W. post will assist with the military rites.

Burial is to take place in All Saints cemetery at Mercer.

In addition to holding membership in the McBride Post, V. F. W., Mr. Gallagher was also member of the Elks, Eagles and German Beneficial Union of this city.

He served with the 80th Division during the late war.

Extension Street Is Being Surveyed

A surveyor was engaged, Thursday afternoon, in training his apparatus west of Butler avenue at the intersection of East Washington street, where the city proposes to put through a new street down the hill along the old Harmony trolley tracks to South Mill street.

In all probability, work on the proposed street will not be started until spring. It will be an extension to Taylor street and will be an aid to the elimination of traffic congestion.

BUT NO CLUBHOUSE

"I can't see much to this here game of golf," said Farmer Cornet.

"Maybe. But after seein' one of these city chaps tryin' to swing a scythe, I've concluded that scythe not only takes more skill, but he's a considerable spicer of danger."—Kennebunk Journal.

What to Wear with What

—or the Thrilling Fashion Story of 1930 as Told by Four Little Budgets

All this young world is ensemble-minded. Whether it's a new bag or a bracelet that the modern Miss buys, it must "go with something." A new idea—a thrift idea that gets to CHIC most quickly, most inexpensively. You simply build your ensemble on one theme—black, brown, green or wine—and presto, you step forth a person dressed with charming and correct individuality.

Higgins believes in the ensemble idea and tomorrow displays on the main floor, two of these complete ensembles.

The rules for assembling an ensemble are simple in 1930. The hat matches the coat, bags and shoes match the hat and dresses match or contrast with the coat. Start the new season fashion right—build your own ensemble. Here are four examples of how economically it may be done.

White Indians Reported Found Deep In Venezuelan Interior

By CROSWELL BOWEN, Jr.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 3—The White Indians of South America which have long been the object of search by scientific expeditions are today believed to have been located 1,500 miles up the Orinoco River in Venezuela.

Dr. Herbert Spencer Dickey who penetrated into the wilderness with three members of his expedition said he found a tribe of Indians called the Guaharibos, which he found to be pale yellow and mild mannered. He had understood they were white and ferocious.

However, Dr. Dickey said, they indicated that there was another tribe who were white further to the west.

"The Guaharibos had a language that was too difficult even for our native peons. They cried from time to time 'guaiacas' and plucked at their brows and pointed to the west as if a tribe of 'guaiacas' which means whites, lived further inland. The water was so low that we could go no further."

"We will return in the Spring and establish a base at the furthest point we reached this time, and from there go after the white Indians."

"Meanwhile, we stayed and studied the Guaharibos and I collected material for a number of lectures, as well as exhibits for the Museum of the American Indian," Dr. Dickey said.

Mrs. Dickey was a member of the expedition but she did not go all the way up the Orinoco River, instead she stayed on the banks part of the way up with several Indian women as servants and a revolver, assembled some of the data of the expedition.

In addition to Mrs. Dickey, members of the exploring group included Major De Forrest Menken, photographer; Robert Durrett, radio operator; and Arthur Menken, photographer.

Eleven living specimens were brought back although they started out with 38 specimens. Eleven died enroute.

Some of the living creatures brought back were, a red howler monkey, a strange heron-like bird, a sand piper, trumpeters, wild turkeys and water fowl and a curacao. Two water birds were caught by spreading chicle gum, the sticky sap out of which chewing gum is made, on the branches of trees.

Cannibal fish called caribe which tear human flesh to shreds and range from one to two feet in length were discovered by Dr. Dickey.

Heat along the River was terrific and once when Dr. Dickey took out his thermometer it registered 140 degrees but he quickly put it away because he was afraid it might burst.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Dickey reported that the natives were very well mannered. They said there was no such thing as the "bad Indian" and it is only the white man who makes him bad he added.

"I never saw finer instincts in any white men than in those savages," Mrs. Dickey said.

Dr. Dickey believes that he established an outboard motor boat record by travelling 2,000 miles in a 35 foot boat, drawing only a foot of water and towing a native boat with all the provisions for the trip and a staff of native servants.

Prison Reform Problem To Be Attacked Anew

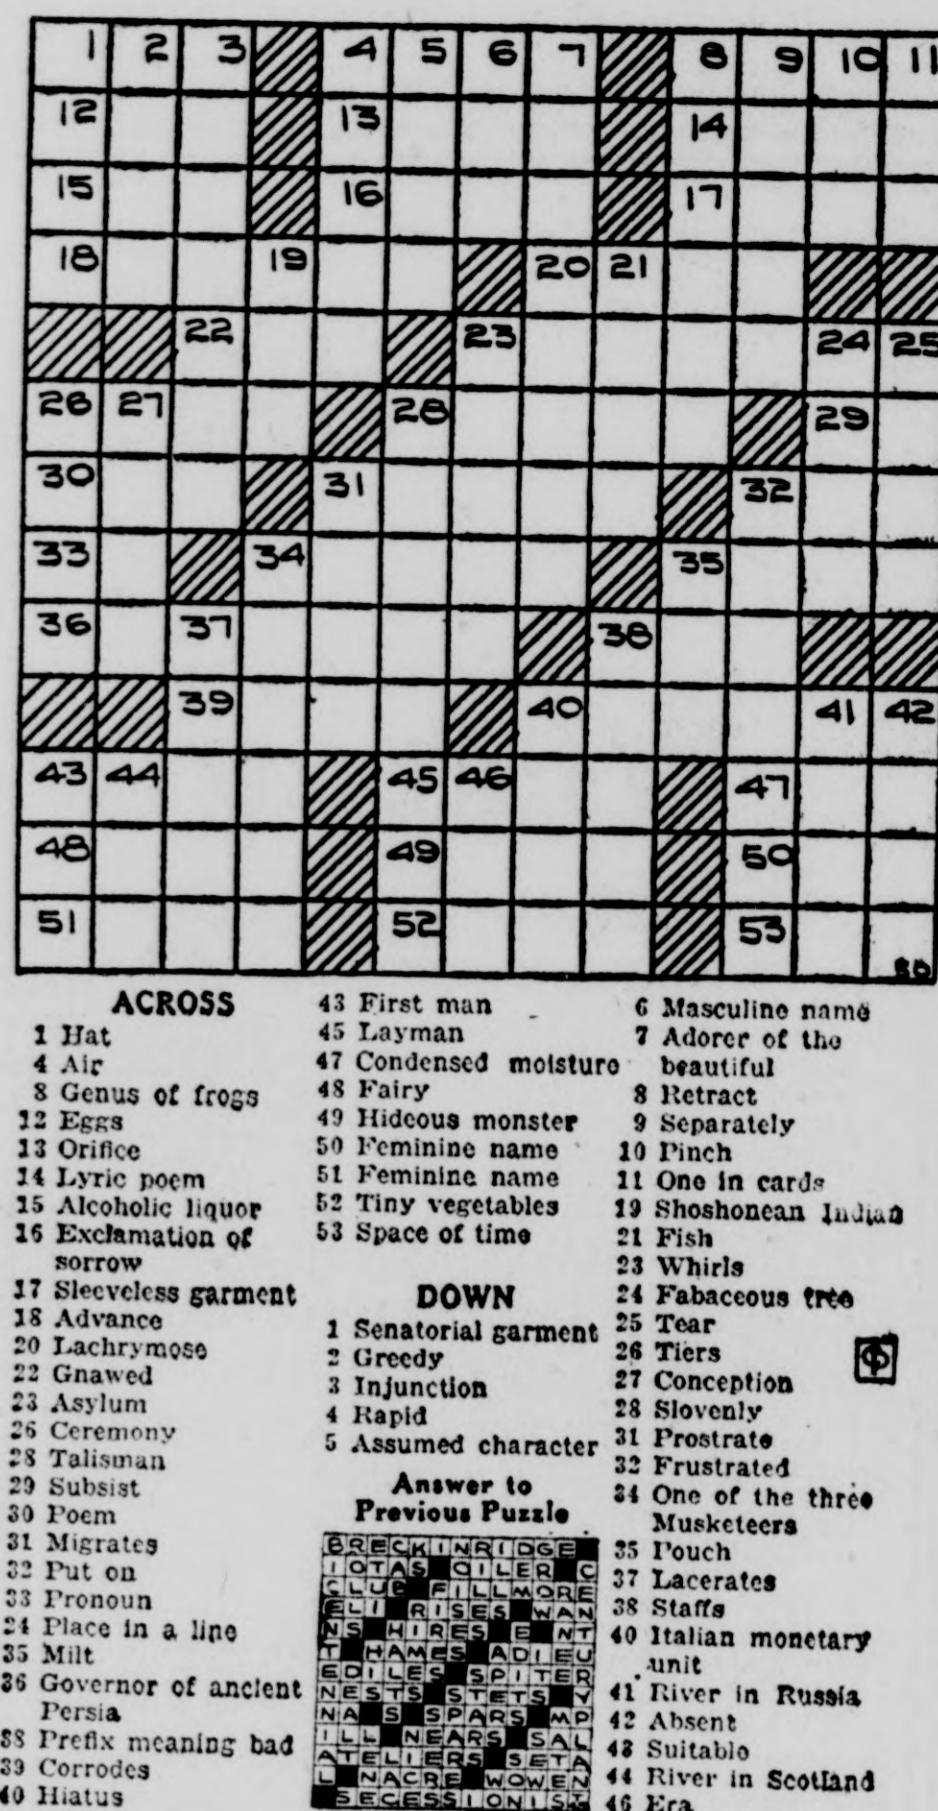

(International News Service)

DENVER, Oct. 3.—The question of prison reform and administration long a storm center in Colorado politics, will be attacked from a new angle when the Colorado Branch of the American League to abolish Capital Punishment meets here in October. The league plans to sound out the sentiment of the coming legislature on the question of reform in methods of punishment of the criminal, according to Mrs. Mary C. C. Bradford, president of the organization.

Do Exercise Moderately If Too Thin

Dr. Clendening Gives Daily Routine To Gain

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
Considering all the factors which we discussed in this column yesterday as contributing to the constitutional type of thin person, the following daily routine is suggested for the treatment of the condition.

On arising always a cold bath or shower rather than a hot one. The cold water tones your muscles and starts the day with more of a feeling of vigor.

Before dressing, take exercises for the abdominal muscles. These muscles are particularly likely to be flabby in this type of person.

1. Lie flat on your back. Sit up and touch your toes with your hands twenty times.

2. Lie flat on your back. Raise your head from the floor as if nodding. Do this twenty to fifty times slowly. This is the best exercise for the abdominal muscles.

Breakfast: A fruit. If constipated a fruit with a good deal of roughage such as grape fruit or apple. Toast with plenty of butter. Coffee won't hurt you. Use plenty of cream. If you don't drink coffee drink some cream anyway.

Right after breakfast, if at all possible, lie down (don't just sit down) on your right side for five, ten or twenty times. Take as many of these rest periods through the day as you can.

At ten-thirty a glass of half milk and half cream.

Luncheon: Very little water or fluids. Bread, potatoes, a green vegetable, some meat. Plenty of butter.

A dessert if you wish. Don't eat a big meal, but a substantial one.

Lie down again for a period of from ten minutes to half an hour on your right side.

At 3:30 another little snack of lunch. An orange, some grapes, a banana, or regulation English tea if you like.

In the afternoon at least three times a week, some form of exercise. Never continue it to the point of fatigue. That is where many of your kind make a mistake. They think exercise in any amount is good for them. Remember, your muscles are not constitutionally as strong as the short, stocky type.

Always get a short rest, lying down at full length after your afternoon exercise. Always rest, whether you have had exercise or not before dinner.

Dinner: Your diet is not a rigid one. You may eat anything you like. Everyone needs a variety in his food. Remember the cardinal principals of your diet are to avoid too much fluid at mealtime, use a great deal of fat and starch, chew your food well and do not eat too much at any one meal. You are eating six meals a day instead of three, so you don't have to overeat at any time.

After dinner lie down on your right side for half an hour.

Have some amusement during the evening, but get to bed by 11 o'clock or at least so you can get eight hours sleep.

Before retiring take exercises for your abdominal muscles.

1. Lie flat and raise your legs 20 times, as high as you can.

2. Lie flat, bend your knees and draw them back over your abdomen as far as you can 20 times.

Drink a small glass of half milk and half cream.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening cannot diagnose or give personal answers to letters from readers. Where questions are of general interest, however, they will be taken up in order in the daily column. Address your queries to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. Write legibly and not over 200 words.)

Hunt Ellwood
Woman On Charge
Of Taking Child

(International News Service)
BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 3.—Ellwood City and Butler police today were searching for Mrs. Mary Lachetski of Ellwood City, who is wanted for allegedly kidnapping her two-year-old daughter Mary from the custody of the child's grandparents with whom she had been placed by a court order last week.

Police said the little girl was taken from her grandmother's front yard last night and spirited away in an automobile. Mrs. Peter Lachetski, grandmother, told police she saw the machine driving away and recognized the child's mother.

enough alone and vote the straight Republican ticket."

Appeals for Loyalty

An appeal for party loyalty was made by Governor John S. Fisher, who pointed out that "although every man I voted for was not nominated, I did not have to wait until the official vote was taken before I declared for the straight Republican ticket."

General Edward C. Shannon of Columbia, a fellow campaigner of Francis Shunk Brown in the primary as candidate for lieutenant-governor, and one of Pinchot's severest critics in the primary, aligned himself with the regular factions of the party by declaring that Pinchot "knew his job" and that he (Shannon) would do all in his power to elect the entire Republican ticket.

Secretary Davis, in a brief address, declared the Democratic party in the state had made the recently enacted tariff bill an issue and that he was more than willing to accept the challenge. Davis declared that President Hoover averted a panic after the stock market crash of last year and has done much to abolish unemployment.

Rousing Welcome

Pinchot was accorded a rousing welcome when he was introduced. He spoke briefly, urged every one to vote the straight Republican ticket for both state and national candidates, and took a fling at the public service commission, charging that body "has failed shamefully in its duty and is controlled by the utilities which it is supposed to control."

A mysterious tingle was lent the gathering when it was learned that Pinchot and William Adams, Harrisburg hotel man, and rated as an active "wet" leader here and in other central Pennsylvania counties in the primary, were closeted in a conference.

Following the meeting Pinchot would not comment on the discussion, other than to say that any information should come from Adams. The latter likewise remained silent on the conference.

Two Injured In Cleveland Blast

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, Oct. 3.—A terrific gas explosion ripped a vacant two story building in the heart of the downtown district here today and resulted in serious injury to two men.

The injured are Benjamin Scobel, 42, proprietor of a shop next door to the blasted building and A. Hassel, 43, an employee of Scobel.

The explosion occurred when the two men entered the basement of the vacant building to get an elevator pit and lit a match in order to see the way.

Flames, which broke out following the explosion, ignited the clothing of the two men. Scobel was critically burned.

Investigation following the blast revealed that caps sealing a gas meter in the basement of the abandoned building had been removed, according to police.

PRETTY WEDDING AT ST. VITUS CHURCH

One of the pretty weddings of the present season was an event of 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning in St. Vitus church, when Miss Edith Zarleno of Cascade street, became the bride of Serafino Zarleno of Youngstown. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. N. DeMita, pastor of St. Vitus church.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a white satin dress with veil and other accessories to match and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride's roses. The matron of honor was Mrs. Amos Germani, who wore a green chiffon dress and carried red roses. The bride's maid were Elizabeth Tesone, Jean DeSalvo, Helen Pesa and Jane Massaro. The ring bearer was little Johnny Germani, while the flower girl was little Miss Emma Iacoboni.

Amos Germani was the best man and the ushers were John Bonfield and Frank DeCarbo of this city and two friends of the groom from Youngstown.

The wedding was very largely attended and was followed with a wedding breakfast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Iacoboni on Cascade street, which was attended by members of the immediate families. A reception followed in the evening at the same place.

The groom is a well known contractor of Youngstown, while the bride is well and favorably known in a wide circle of friends. They will reside in Youngstown.

DINNER-RECEPTION
INTERESTING EVENT

Mrs. J. C. Boyle of Butler, was a most charming hostess Thursday evening when she entertained 100, including a number of out of town guests at a dinner and reception in The Nixon at Butler, Pa., in honor of Miss Margaret Elizabeth Boyd, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Boyd of Princeton, and her fiancee, Dr. James C. Boyle, son of the late Dr. Joseph Boyle of Butler, whose engagement was recently announced.

An elaborate menu, consisting of several courses, was served at tables beautifully decorated in an array of pastel hues, with various bouquets of selected flowers being tastefully used, and unique favors marking each guest's place, was indeed a very beautiful setting.

The wedding will take place in the future, the date which has not been announced, as yet.

Gathering At Home Of Mrs. Blythe — Other News Notes Of Slippery Rock

(Special to The News.)

SLIPPERY ROCK, Oct. 3.—The Woman's Rural club of Slippery Rock met at the home of Mrs. Blythe on Thursday afternoon with 50 members present. An interesting talk was given by Mrs. Thomas Dennison on her trip through Maine and Canada in the interest of potato growing. A humorous reading was given by Mrs. Clarence Thompson of Keister entitled "Apples", the result of which brought forth a treat of sweet cider by the hostess, Mrs. Blythe. Delicious refreshments were served by the following hostesses: Mrs. W. A. Palston, Mrs. Clyde Rennick, Mrs. Fred Hogg, Mrs. Herman McGill and Mrs. Finley Smith.

HOME IS ROBBED

No clue has been found which would aid in the capture of the thief who robbed the Orville Bollinger home near Keister last Thursday morning. After being absent from the house for about 20 minutes Mr. Bollinger returned to find he had been relieved of nearly all of his wearing apparel together with a gold watch and a travelling bag containing valuable papers, also a dozen eggs. A glove which had been taken was found in a nearby field.

DEEP SEA DIVER LEARNS THAT FISH ARE CURIOUS RACE

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—With colored motion pictures of Submarine plant and animal life, taken while he stood on the floor of the Pacific Ocean encased in a diver's helmet, Dr. A. C. Pillsbury, noted Berkeley camera-scientists, was back home today after a four months' expedition in the South Seas. He and Mrs. Pillsbury arrived in San Francisco aboard the Matson liner Sierra.

"Among other things, I learned that fish are about as curious as human beings," said Dr. Pillsbury, commenting on the "unexpected handicaps" of his hazardous work. "Soon after I would go over the side on the floor of the ocean, the fish would begin to gather around and peck into the 'windows' of my diver's helmet.

"Believe it or not, they would gather in such droves that I could not see and would have to brush them away with my hands. A minute later the curious fellows would be back trying to get a look at me. Between brushes I managed to get some most extraordinary pictures of sea life and coral formations. Fortunately for science, there were no sharks or devil fish among my uninvited guests."

Dr. Pillsbury sailed for Honolulu on the Malolo four months ago. After "shooting" some botanical subjects in Hawaii, he proceeded to Suva, Fiji, where he was commissioned by a well-known scientific publication to take colored pictures of rare submarine specimens of which the tropical waters abound.

"I took 13,000 feet of motion pictures and 1,100 still pictures, many of which were in natural colors," Dr. Pillsbury said. "We also visited Pago Pago in American Samoa, where I recorded the life story of a coconut, which means recording in motion pictures the growth of a coconut from the bud to the ripened fruit."

Dr. Pillsbury said that on the Island of Benga he managed to film the rare and closely guarded "Fire an annual religious fete peculiar to Benga. It consists of a pit of hot coals 17 feet in diameter over which the natives walk in bare feet. The coals were hot enough to burn shoe leather, Pillsbury said, and still the natives seemed not to mind and as near as he could tell none of them was injured. One barefoot girl walked across the glowing embers. She didn't flinch, Dr. Pillsbury said.

Dr. Pillsbury is famous for his lapse time motion pictures of plants. His most recent triumph, prior to the South Seas expedition, consists of X-ray motion pictures in lapse time showing the reaction of body tissues of small laboratory animals afflicted with various diseases.

NICE BOY

The Duchess went out recently and got her one of those abbreviated cars and is having the time of her young life learning the gentle art of steering it in and out among traffic without running the bloomin' thing up the sleeve of some traffic cop's unstrretched arm.

For some unknown reason taxi drivers round town entertain an intense aversion to these small cars and, as in the case of the Duchess, seeing a woman driver, unaccompanied, lose no opportunity to stifle her with the robust effluvia of their peculiar vocabulary.

There's always something melancholy about the departure of summer. Nevertheless, its passing has this compensation: For the next few months we'll be able to pick up the Sunday photo section without running into the photographs of those ample females who swim for a living and who, when not actively engaged in the art, stand around posing for pictures, bent over.

Singer Sargent—Portrait Painter to the Push.

The Worthy Brother did a portrait of old John D. Rockefeller 13 years ago. When the canvas was completed he invited Prof. and Mrs. F. A. Osborne to view the work.

What occurred on the visit is embodied in a letter which Mrs. Osborne later wrote to the Dime Dispenser of Pocantico Hills.

"We were lost in contemplation as we gazed at the portrait," she wrote. "After a few minutes silence, Professor Osborne said: 'Sargent, you have captured a quattrocento mystic—a saint—St. Francis of Assisi.'

"Whereupon Sargent literally jumped from the floor saying: 'Osborne, do you see that in that face? That's exactly what I saw in the man!'

I have met Mr. Rockefeller. I've encountered Prof. Osborne. I knew Sargent. With the knowledge of the three men that I possess and having read much of St. Francis—my belief is the painter was what the English call "spoofing" the scientist.

Bogus Quarters Lead To Man's Arrest

(International News Service)

DENVER, Oct. 3.—A trail of bogus "two bit" pieces used in buying nickel candies in small stores throughout Denver led to the arrest of Elmer Pruitt, alias George Hall. He is being held much longer than the maximum of 18 months.

Goddard also discovered a number of molds used in making the coins in Pruitt's room.

Immediate Relief for INDIGESTION

WHAT most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. Food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention, it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume.

RECOMPENSE

Proprietors of these buildings are losing approximately $39,000 each year with the possibility of a loss of $91,000 or more, the report said.

Eighteen places having an assessed value of $394,000 were under padlock on Sept. 3 and padlock petitions for forty additional properties with an assessed value of $915,000 will be considered in the Federal Court during October, the survey disclosed.

Numerous cases of padlocks already granted and also those petitioned for, concern establishments within the shadow of the Capitol and White House. Five cases now pending are against properties within a six block radius of the Capitol.

Hunger Striker Is Nearly Killed By Ham Sandwich

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Mrs. Marie Jesperson's two-day hunger strike very nearly ended disastrously, chiefly because of a ham sandwich.

She quarreled with her husband and decided to teach him a lesson by going hungry. Worried over her continued abstinence from food, her husband weakened and apologized for his part in the quarrel.

Mrs. Jesperson called off her strike and ate a ham sandwich. A few hours later she was taken to a hospital, seriously ill. Physicians, saying she would recover, explained the sandwich had proved too severe a strain on her stomach after the hunger strike.

Rebellion Over Donning Of Pants

TEHERAN, Persia, Oct. 3.—Persian authorities are grappling with a rebellion in the south.

It is reported here that a serious insurrection has broken out among the tribesmen, whom the government has been attempting to disarm. A second cause of resistance on the part of the tribesmen, reports assert, is the Shah's attempt to make them adopt western clothes.

One tribal leader of 30,000 has notified the authorities that his men would sooner die than wear pants.

Big Tomatoes On Connellsville Farm

CONNELLSVILLE, Oct. 3.—Charles Moore, miner of Leiserington No. 3, claims the title of the "biggest" tomato grower in this district.

From a single vine in his garden four tomatoes, weighing eight pounds and 12 ounces, were plucked. Many others of almost equal size remain on the plant.

This is not the first year Moore has grown prize tomatoes. For the last few seasons, by careful selection of seed and cultivation, his tomato crops have been of extra-ordinary size.

During the dry spells this summer his plants were carefully watered and cultivated.

Cooper Loft Is Now Leading For Average Speed

Three Young Pigeons From Local Loft Lead 48 Birds In Fourth Season Race

When 48 racing pigeons, every one the pick of some of the outstanding lots of western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio, are entered in a race, the winner can safely be classed as a "wow" of a flyer.

W. H. Cooper of S. Jefferson street entered several of his racers in a race of the Original Racing Pigeon club last Sunday and first, second and third places in the race were taken by New Castle Pride, New Castle Queen and New Castle Boy of the Cooper loft. It was 150-mile race.

This was the fourth regular young bird race of the season and the birds were released in Marion, O., by the express agent at 7 a. m. The first bird to report was New Castle Pride, the beautiful blue cock flying the colors of the Cooper loft.

Mr. Cooper won first regular and special prizes and claim for sealed velocity. The Cooper loft is now leading for average speed.

Speed in yards per minute made by the three leading pigeons were 984.814, 919.507 and 908.398.

The next race will be flown Sunday, October 5, from Marion, O. The birds will be shipped Saturday at 3 p. m. from the Erie express terminal.

Ancient Car Ruined In Fire Some Wonder In Its Heyday

All that remains of the wooden automobile body following the fire years of its existence.

Before the acquisition by the automobile executive, the car had been in use 10 years to deliver the mails over the R. F. D. route from Edensburg. Hartwell says during that time it had not traveled over one foot of improved roadway. The veteran machine became accustomed to bumps and ruts, which the three-inch clincher tires evaded with unbelievable rapidity.

Although stored in the Croton avenue garage the car was fit for any "swell" museum. It was equipped with brass fixtures. The radiator was of brass; windshield fittings were brass; lamp holders were brass; the funny rods that extended in front were brass.

The other day Hartwell inspected the ruins of the fire which caused damage estimated at $7,500. The old Model T was still standing but its wooden body was practically gone, and the metal formed only a skeleton.

Corn Liquor Baths Lead To Jail Door

JONESBORO, Ark., Oct. 3.—Corn whiskey baths are a great cure for what ails you, thinks Raymond Martin, but they won't keep you out of jail.

Martin was arrested on charges of possessing corn whiskey and home brew.

"Sure, judge," Martin explained, giving sage advice along medical lines: "we tried everything to relieve my sister, but nothing did any good. So finally we started giving her corn liquor baths."

"And now she is well."

"Well, well," the judge answered, "$50 for you and some time in jail. See if you can't think up some more remedies."

Famous Hero To Substitute Bible For Soldier's Sword

BY LAURENCE DUMOND
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Thirty years ago this month the pulse-whipping, throat constricting story of Bugler Titus the hero was on the lips of Americans the country over.

The cool, fiery striping was called the finest example of the fighting men this country had sent to China to protect our nationals.

The story of his heroic exploit when he was a young bugler with the United States forces outside the walls of Peking's to be gleaned from Army records.

On the morning of August 14, 1900 the American columns pushed forward and soon the grim walls of the Tartar city loomed before them. Gray and towering in the dawn and unseen menace. Boxers and regular Chinese troops opened fire from batter. The American troops deployed and under cover of their rifle fire two companies of infantry led by Colonel Aaron S. Daggett of the Fourteenth Infantry rushed to the very foot of the wall.

Somebody must act quickly.

The Boxers had only to drop bricks to dislodge the American troops.

That someone was Bugler Titus. He threw down his hat, his weapons, even his precious bugle. The wall rose up sheer for 30 feet or more. But centuries had weathered the bricks until crevices afforded a foothold.

Bugler Titus scrambled nervously from brick to wind torn brick until he had peeked over the top.

"I did not know at what moment a rifle butt or bullet would end my short career," he said afterwards. "Nothing happened. I could see a group of hats on top of the wall a few yards off."

The enemy did not spot him as he crouched on the wall's edge and a cord hauled up the first rifle and ammunition.

Bugler Titus opened fire on the nearest enemy, much to their surprise, while others followed him to the orderly and narrow battlefield.

That night Titus and his company bivouacked on the legation grounds in Peking and the next morning advanced on the imperial city, within the Tartar city.

When Congress voted the youthful hero a cadetship President Roosevelt journeyed to the academy on the Hudson and pinned on Titus Cadet's blouse the Medal of Honor highest of American's decorations for gallantry under fire.

But always while campaigning in the forces of the United States Army Titus has carried on his own campaign in the ranks. Bible in hand.

Now at 51 the hero of the capture of Peking is about to realize one of his heart's desires. From Fort Benning, Georgia, where he has been instructor in tactics at the infantry school, Lieut.-Colonel Titus was to go to Los Angeles, to await his formal retirement from Military Service. Then he will devote himself to Bible teaching.

Employ Science To Try To Run Down Law Breakers

International News Service) CHICAGO, October 3.—Laboratory rainbows are being used to run down clues to crime in the newest application of science to crime detection. Harnessing the powerful ultra-violet rays of the sun in spectroscopic photography and fluorescence tests to detect the presence of metallic and alkaloidal poisons in cases of suspected murder and to uncover civil frauds is the new hope of the criminologist in outwitting society's enemies, according to Dr. A. J. Pacini, Chicago scientist. Dr. Pacini, who has devoted the past twenty years to the study of the sun's invisible rays, has just been appointed to the staff of Col. Calvin Goddard head of the scientific crime detection bureau at Northwestern University. Both speed and accuracy in solving crime mysteries of certain types are claimed as the special advantages of the ultraviolet detection.

"Every chemical element has its peculiar spectrum, or arrangement of lines in the rainbow, which can be photographed under ultraviolet light," said Dr. Pacini. "When an autopsy is made on a body suspected as a murder victim, a spectroscopic photograph of the vital organs gives a complete record of any foreign substance present. If arsenic is suspected and is present, the spectrum of that element will be seen in the photograph. On the other hand a poison not even suspected may give indisputable evidence of its presence in the spectrographic record. With the commonly used chemical procedure, the analyst must have a definite poison to search for, and if he does not find that, he has nothing left with which to continue his investigation. The ultraviolet methods has also the advantage of being able to detect very minute amounts of a metallic poison which would elude the chemist's analyst."

"Many chemicals have a peculiar fluorescence or color luminosity when placed under ultraviolet light. Various alkaloidal poisons are included in this group. When the amount is too small to show a definite fluorescence to the naked eye, the fluorescence microscope can make the identification. Morphine fluoresces with a bright bluish characteristic, cocaine gives a whitish fluorescence, heroin shows up yellow green and aspirin, purple. If a person has been dosed with any of these drugs, it is a long and difficult process to determine it by chemical means. But the ultraviolet detectives give a quick and accurate verdict in the case of these and many other alkaloidal poisons. Since papers and inks have fluorescence it is possible to uncover civil frauds, such as alterations in wills and raised document, by ultraviolet light. There will be a dissimilarity in fluorescence between the authentic and altered portions."

Resume Shenango Works Gatherings For Fall And Winter

Following a session during the summer months, the meetings of the Foremen's Club of the Shenango Works have been resumed the first one taking the place of a smoker in the club rooms at the plant.

Sixty-eight foremen were present, in addition to D. S. Pyle, general manager, and John N. Crombie, assistant manager. Special guests were Dr. H. E. Zerner, Chester A. Bodle of Pittsburgh and H. S. Schulz of Pittsburgh. W. D. Jones, president, was in charge of the meeting.

The mill quartet composed of C. R. Brenner, C. R. Lennig, Henry Jackson and George Zerner sang a number of selections and assisted in the pep singing, while the address of the evening was delivered by M. L. Spangler, District Sales Manager of the Bell Telephone Company who spoke on "The Function of the Bell Laboratories." A special demonstration of sound pictures was given. The sound machine was operated by R. M. Luther and C. D. Evans of Pittsburgh.

The meeting then adjourned to the large room in the hospital building where a boxing ring had been installed. Boxers from the Shenango Mill force put on three bouts which were fast and interesting, with Ed Fritz refereeing. The bouts were, Patsy Murphy vs Billy Meadow; Johnnie James vs Billie Murphy; Frankie Frey vs Joe Midway.

Regular monthly meetings will continue throughout the fall and winter.

High Dramatic Class Presents Short Play

Miss Clara Hartsuff's Dramatic Class Make First Appearance

On Thursday

Miss Clara Hartsuff's senior high school dramatic class made its first appearance of the school year before the faculty and students on Thursday morning. A one-act play was presented, "The Love Expert," by John Kirkpatrick.

This is a hilarious comedy centering about a damsel who could not make up her mind whether to get married or to continue her search for a job. The high school audience was all ears and eyes for "the love expert" and her trusting patrons, as played by some of the dramatic stars under the direction of Miss Hartsuff.

"The love expert" was of course a "colonist" such as every reader of a metropolitan daily in these times has touched about.

The young actors proved themselves quite at home behind the footlights.

Josephine Allen—Margaret Olivia Griffith and William Hazen cleverly acted their roles. The cast follows:

Mr. Jackson—William Hazen.

Mrs. Jackson—Josephine Allen.

Mary Jackson—Nellie Brady.

Minnie Belle Carter—Peggy Griffith.

Miss Alice—Dorothy Patch.

Tom Jones—John Whalen.

Chester Wade—James Sotus.

Tony—Watson Wilson.

Colored Ex-Service Man Is Missing

Charles Barr, colored, 60 to 62 years of age, an ex-service man, has been missing from his rooming place at 903 Moravia street for three weeks and it is very much desired to get in touch with him or learn his whereabouts. He had stopped but a week at Moravia street address, when he disappeared. He left behind his clothing and all his belongings including his army discharge papers. He is about five feet two or three inches in height, weighs about 165 pounds and was wearing white tennis shoes, dark trousers and a light cap when last seen. Any information concerning him should be given to the New Castle police department.

Workmen were making ready today to re-floor the pedestrian walks on the West Washington street bridge over the Shenango river. The old walks have become considerably worn.

Love And Science Save Bride's Life

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Science and Love joined hands here to save the life of pretty Mrs. Margaret Bennett, youthful bride of a naval stoker.

The spectacular incident was watched with interest and sympathy by the entire nation.

Years ago Margaret and Will Bennett were childhood sweethearts in the Devonshire village of Newton Pipperton. Last December they were married and a few weeks later Bennett left to join his ship for a two year cruise in the South Atlantic and Pacific.

The enemy did not spot him as he crouched on the wall's edge and a cord hauled up the first rifle and ammunition.

Bugler Titus opened fire on the nearest enemy, much to their surprise, while others followed him to the orderly and narrow battlefield.

That night Titus and his company bivouacked on the legation grounds in Peking and the next morning advanced on the imperial city, within the Tartar city.

When Congress voted the youthful hero a cadetship President Roosevelt journeyed to the academy on the Hudson and pinned on Titus Cadet's blouse the Medal of Honor highest of American's decorations for gallantry under fire.

"My Will," she cried, weakly, struggling to rise. "Thank God."

Stoker Bennett isn't going back to his ship until she is fully recovered and the doctors now say this is virtually assured.

Last year Rev. Mr. Bare started early morning Sunday services for golfers who wished to spend the balance of the Sabbath on the golf links.

SIX YEAR OLD BOY PUZZLES OFFICIALS

TOLEDO, Oct. 3.—What to do with a 6-year-old boy who has a mustache, shaves regularly, smokes cigars inveterately, talks in a deep voice and does strong man stunts is puzzling Toledo school officials as well as his parents.

The boy is Clarence Kehr, who is 3 feet 5 inches tall, weighs 84 pounds and has been doing "strong man" stunts since he was 3. He has a high intelligence quotient. Physicians attribute his early development to superactivity of the ductless glands.

Toledo public school officials declined to enter Clarence, Jr., in any first grade and schools of the Catholic diocese of Toledo have taken a similar stand. There are no provisions in Ohio for education of a boy of Clarence's type in special classes.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE) CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 3.—A 15-year boy patient in the Worcester state hospital, Edward Przygoda of this city, went automobile riding backward.

The results—he wrecked three machines, knocked down three electric railway trolley poles in Belmont street and escaped without injury.

He climbed into a milk truck, which had been left standing near the entrance to the hospital grounds with the engine shut off and the gears in reverse, and managed to start the truck on a wild dash backward down Belmont street hill toward Lake Quinsigamond.

The truck smashed into a state hospital automobile and hit another machine, damaging both these cars. Just before the runaway truck piled up against a stone wall in Plantation street young Przygoda jumped and escaped unhurt.

FARMERS ARE FEEDING WHEAT TO THEIR STOCK

In order to relieve the surplus wheat situation, many Lawrence county farmers are feeding wheat to their cattle, according to Henry Emery, a farmer of Scott township. There is now very little difference between the price of a bushel of wheat and a bushel of shelled corn, while it is claimed that the feed value of a bushel of wheat is double that of a bushel of shelled corn. In view of the wheat situation many farmers are curtailing their acreage of wheat planting this fall.

American Legion Delegates Flock To Boston Today

Battle Lines Already Drawn
For Three Important
Convention Fights

HOOVER TO MAKE
SPEECH ON MONDAY

BY EUGENE K. LARICK
International News Service Staff

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—With Boston's historic streets already resounding with the tread of the vanguard of the American Legion, lines were being drawn today for the three important contests of the conventions—The choice of a new national commander, the selection of a new national president of the Legion Auxiliary and the choice of a 1931 convention city.

Four candidates loomed for the post of national commander—J. Munroe Johnson, of South Carolina; Ralph O'Neill, of Kentucky.

Mrs. Ruth McCurry Brown, of Arkansas, and Mrs. Wilma Hoyal, of Iowa, are the leading candidates for the national presidency of the Auxiliary.

Strenuous campaigning was being launched by Los Angeles, Detroit, Portland, Oregon, a city in Florida, to be named and Mexico for the 1931 convention meeting place.

The "wet" and "dry" issue may come before the legion convention next week but in view of its policy not to engage in controversial issues of a political nature, indications today were that the resolution would be sidetracked.

Arrival of state adjutants, the advance men for their delegations, began today, preparatory to the arrival of delegations tomorrow and Sunday for the opening of the convention at Boston arena on Monday with an address by President Herbert Hoover. Adjutants arriving today were from Connecticut, Louisiana, Missouri, Wisconsin and New York. Tomorrow adjutants of Georgia, Kentucky, Minnesota, Mississippi, Oklahoma and Tennessee arrive.

Vause Case Is Called Mistrial

International News Service
NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Federal Judge Mortimer W. Byers, declared a mistrial in the trial of former county Judge W. Bernard Vause today, half an hour after it was resumed. Vause is charged with income tax evasion on his 1926 return.

A mistrial was declared because one of the jurors had served as a member of the June Federal grand jury which indicted Vause.

Judge Byers ordered that the new trial be started on Monday morning.

"Blood tests taken in connection with anthropoid apes and men has shown that although they were not relatives they were closely associated in the animal kingdom."

Reeves Anxious To Eliminate Weeds

Councilman C. H. Reeves today requested Solicitor Robert White to prepare a new weed ordinance.

Under the provisions of Reeves' proposed city law all weeds on all lots owned by the city or individuals must be cut.

Should the owners fail to comply with the law the city will cut the weeds and charge the cost against the land owners.

Seeks To Have Dam

Army To Aid Legion Convention

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Oct. 3.—United States army officials are preparing to lend every assistance to American legionnaires during the latter's convention here early next month.

Already orders were received for the distribution to the American Legion the largest amount of bedding handled at the army base since 1927 when the army, shipped emergency equipment to the Mississippi river flood refugees. The orders consist of 20,000 cots, mattresses, pillows, ned slips and 40,000 blankets. It was estimated that a fleet of 50 or more trucks would be required to move the army bedding from the quartermaster depot here.

State Has 52,202 Fewer Farms But Maintains Yields

HARRISBURG, Oct. 3.—Expansion of urban centers, abandonment of sub-marginal farms, construction of golf links and airport and the conversion of favorably situated farms into country estates have been primarily responsible for a reduction of 52,202 in number of farms in the Commonwealth since 1900, according to officials of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Thirty years ago, Pennsylvania agriculture reached its points of maximum expansion as marked by the number of farms. At that time the Federal Census showed 224,248 farms in the State, an increase of 50,267 over 1870. It is significant, officials say, that the decrease in farms since 1900 just about equals the increase in farms from 1870 to 1900.

This does not mean, however, that most of the farms established in Pennsylvania between 1870 and 1900 eventually had to be abandoned. A study of the census figures since 1870 indicates that counties such as Allegheny, Buck, Delaware, Philadelphia and Montgomery, which contribute only 1596 to the increase in number of farms from 1870 to 1900, were responsible for 8897 of the decrease from 1900 to 1930. The decrease, amounting to 43 per cent, in these five counties in the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh areas, was 10 per cent greater than the decrease which took place in the primarily rural, north tier counties.

While the drop in number of farms throughout the State has been approximately 23 per cent, during the past thirty years, the estimated decrease in number of acres in principal field crops has been less than 15 per cent. During the same period the farmers have increased the acre yield of these crops 19 per cent. The total production of the principal field crops has been maintained or slightly increased in spite of a reduction of more than 50,000 in number of farms, it was pointed out.

State School Term Is Longer Than Most Others

Arkansas Students Have Lowest Record, Attending But 145.5 Days In Year

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 3.—The Pennsylvania school boy and school girl will not be very pleased to learn that they must obey the school bell more times each year than the boys and girls of most states in the land, but that is a fact revealed by the United States Office of Education.

According to the survey, Pennsylvania's public schools, elementary and secondary, are on the average in session 181.5 days, the state ranking ninth in the country in this respect. The public schools of the country as a whole are open an average of 171 days.

Pennsylvania youngsters should be glad they do not live in New Jersey where the schools are open approximately seven and one-half days more each year, but probably will regret they are not natives of Arkansas where the public schools are open an average of only 145.5 days each year.

Mrs. Floss Potter Is Chosen President For Coming Year Last Evening

With one of the largest crowds of the year in attendance, members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, held their annual election meeting in the Legion Home Association building last evening, when Mrs. Floss Potter was named president for the ensuing year.

Other officers elected were:

Senior Vice President—Mrs. Evelyn Woods.

Junior Vice President—Mrs. Emily Benson.

Chaplain—Mrs. Louise Evans.

Trustees—Mrs. Ada Miller and Mrs. Ethel Shaffer.

Last night's meeting was the culmination of one of the most successful years the Auxiliary has experienced since their organization, and speaks well of the efforts of the retiring president, Mrs. John H. Stoner.

Members of the Auxiliary voted at their meeting last night to join with the McBride Post in joint installation ceremonies to be held on the evening of Thursday, November 6, the regular meeting night of the Auxiliary.

Members of the committee which will assist the committee from the McBride Post in the arrangements is composed of Mrs. Ada Miller, Mrs. Eisia Staebler, Mrs. Ida Suber, Mrs. Thelma Wallace and President Stoner.

Arrangements were made by the Auxiliary to hold a tureen dinner in connection with their next meeting in two weeks.

OPERATIC CAREER AMAZES HOPE

Back in Los Angeles, once more, after a triumphant operatic tour of Europe, Hope Hampton, former screen star, admits her grand opera career hardly seems real to her. Deciding to try her ability as a musical comedy actress, Miss Hampton was amazed, the morning after her opening performance, to read that critics believed her voice to be of operatic timber. That gave her the incentive to leave the films and devote herself to singing.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

This is the World Series Sunday today and as a result, St. Louis will not lose the third game of the series until Saturday. Somewhere between Philadelphia and St. Louis the two teams are riding the rails today, and it's good guess that in St. Louis, the atmosphere isn't quite as friendly as it is up with the Quaker City lads.

The News board got a rest today but you're invited to come down Saturday afternoon. No football except at some of the surrounding college fields, golf is beginning to pall a bit, looks as though the World Series was due for a crowd.

As for this P. M. if you want a seat at the New Castle Alquippa game, you'll have to leave the dishes slide over until the morning. It looks like a horse race tonight for the Alquippans have been pointing for this game, determined to hang a New Castle scalp on their belts for this season.

This will be the first test of the New Castle team, the first time they have been pressed to win, and the probabilities are the score will be a low one with the winner snaking through a single touchdown or perhaps a point.

And of course there is always the possibility that this guess may be far, far away.

Now that "Odds" is over and done, it won't affect the playing ability of some of those youngsters to mention that their work last night was good. The crowd was a big one, over 2000, and the kids went through their lines and songs and dances with a veteran air.

One of the prima donnas, De Luce Cole received a gorgeous bouquet at the end of the show. It was a cluster of soup fruit. A large red faced carrot, garnished with an onion, and a bridal shower of cranberries hanging down. The whole thing was dressed in a cluster of asparagus. A little bit of garlic might have added fragrance to the offering, the only trouble being that there is no such thing as a "little bit" of garlic.

The mushball season is now closed, the Lockley Machine team putting on its banquet last night in the Fountain Inn, and that seems to wind up the mushball eating for the year. This dinner was composed of roast chicken and colored paper and there was so much paper on the table that it was hard to find the chicken. But after you found it, the hunt was worth the trouble.

New Air Line To Open October 15

Coast To Coast Transport Service Line Will Be Formally Opened In Two Weeks

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The new airline formed by a merger of Transcontinental Air Transport, Western Air Express and the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries will go into effect Oct. 15, it was announced today. An all day flight 36-hour service between the east and west coasts with a night stop-over in Kansas City will be maintained.

The respective companies will maintain separate indemnities for activities peculiar to their own business, merging only for the maintenance of the coast-to-coast schedules.

Harris M. Hanshue, president of Western Air Express, was named head of the new concern. Charles M. Keys, chairman of the T. A. T., will be chairman of the board.

LOYAL WOMEN

The Loyal Women's Bible class of the Madison Avenue Christian church had their monthly social meeting in the church Thursday evening. There was a good attendance of members. At the business meeting plans were made for a Hallowe'en party to be October 30 at the home of Mrs. C. J. Bernhart, Liberty street. The social committee of the class will have charge of arrangements. The November social meeting of the class will be in the form of a White Elephant party.

Following the business meeting the rest of the evening was spent socially in chat. At a seasonal hour delicious refreshments were served by the associate hostesses Mrs. J. W. McHatfield and Mrs. I. D. Wagner.

FINISHING PAINTING

The repainting of the Madison Ave. Christian church is now finished. The second coat of paint having been put on this week. Quite a lot of repair work was done to the church building the past couple weeks. The roof and steps were repaired, the building re-painted and the timbers renewed.

ATTEND BANQUET

Mrs. Oman C. Mauck, Newell Ave., Miss Helen Anderson of Madison Ave., Mrs. Q. E. Davy, Cedar street were at Oil City Thursday. In the evening they attended the Young People's banquet of the sixtieth Foreign Missionary conference of the Methodist church. Following the banquet a pageant was presented, which they attended.

Three More Girls Receive Passports At Ward Library

Three more girls have finished the special summer reading, around the world via books, offered at the branch free public library in the Seventh ward to their readers. The girls who have finished and will receive their passports are: Ingogene King, June Isabel, Marian Unanast. This makes a total of six children who have completed the summer reading at this branch. There are still a few finishing the course.

Early in the summer the library offered a summer reading course. Entrants were to read ten books on the list offered by the branch. The books were stories of different countries. Upon reading ten books each person was to be given a passport with the list of books they have read written on the passport. This makes a total of five girls and one boy finishing the reading course at this branch.

"Odds" Repeated To Well Filled House

Local Amateurs Repeat "Odds" At Cathedral On Thursday Night

The Kearns-Whieldon musical show "Odds" was repeated last night at the Cathedral before a fairly well packed house and the young actors went through their parts with an easier swing than they did on the first night which is always a tough one for the amateurs.

The show clicked through nicely last evening. The leads were fine in their parts, and the choruses did a lot of extra stepping when encored for their fine work.

The production was sponsored by the service division of the Consistory.

W. C. T. U. Names Delegates To Houston November Convention

At the executive meeting of the Lawrence county W. C. T. U. held Thursday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A., Miss Margaret S. Walker, county president, was in charge of the meeting and Mrs. Jennie Forquer, evangelistic director, led the devotions. Business of a special nature was taken care of and delegates appointed to attend the national convention being held in Houston, Texas, November 13 to 30. Mrs. E. C. Bean of Moody avenue and Mrs. W. K. Ramsey of Ellwood City were selected to attend this meeting.

The state convention will be held at Uniontown October 17 to 21 and a number of the Lawrence county members will be in attendance at this convention.

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. B. Douthet were elected directors of temperance in moving pictures and Mrs. L. C. Barnhart of Ellwood City was elected as director of temperance instruction in daily vacation Bible schools.

Mrs. J. B. McClaren, the treasurer, gave a report that was very gratifying to the executive board.

Of interest to the local members is the fact that Mrs. Ella Boole, national president, will be among the speakers at the Uniontown convention.

Mrs. Beck closed the meeting with prayer.

Just to keep his hand in until another election, Pa Ferguson can practice driving from the back seat.

The production was sponsored by the service division of the Consistory.

Wins Shooting Prize Without Shooting

International News Service

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—Ex-Kaiser Will-helm has been proclaimed king—of the sharp-shooters' guild of Sabor, without having fired a single shot.

The ex-monarch was invited by the citizens of the Silesian residence of Kaiserin Hermine to participate in the sharp shooting contest held here recently and asked his eldest stepson, the twenty-three year-old Prince Hans Georg, to represent him.

Prince Hans proved the best shot and won the contest, whereupon the ex-Kaiser was proclaimed king in absentia.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 3.—The chapel walls of St. Anselm's college here are to bear a series of educational murals, the work of Rev. P. Raphael, O. S. B.

When the paintings will be completed could not be estimated as the work is progressing at easy stages with many of the student body aiding Fr. Raphael in the work. However, with the arrival of the fall commencement of classes the work will move much faster.

The newcomers are being instructed by the more experienced painters. The walls and sanctuary will be first completed.

Cow Inadvertently Saves Life Of Boy

International News Service

PRESCOTT, Eng., Oct. 3.—Ten year old John Slade might have been drowned but for a cow.

Accompanied by his parents and some friends, John went to a local beauty spot to spend the afternoon. Endeavoring to pluck a berry, growing on a bush overhanging a pool, he overbalanced and fell in.

The splash cause the cow which was standing in the water knee-deep, and it immediately turned round to shake for the bank. As the cow passed him John grabbed it by the tail and was towed out of the pool.

Birds Ruin Apple Crop In Normandy

International News Service

CAEN, Oct. 3.—Birds are responsible for a very poor crop of apples in Normandy this year. Great flocks of them coming from the regions of Upper Silesia attacked the apples, split them in two and ate the seeds. The result is that the apple harvest is no more than half what the average one has been during past seasons.

Adopt New Ruling On Transferring Radio Licenses

Federal Radio Commission Requires Interested Parties
To Prove Fitness

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 3.—As a step in the direction of eliminating the buying and selling of radio licenses the federal radio commission has just adopted a new rule requiring both parties interested in the transfer of a license or construction permit to file with the commission upon forms prescribed by that organization reports setting forth facts necessary to show that the assignee is eligible and qualified to receive the permit or license and that the continued operation of the station to be transferred will be in the public interest.

Under this new regulation, both assignor and assignee will be required to file these reports with the commission. Attached to the reports will be duplicate verified copies of the sale or lease contract. The contract, the commission orders, shall provide that the assignee will have complete control of the station equipment and apparatus and of its operation, including unlimited supervision of programs to be broadcast from the station.

The new regulation further provides that the insolvency of the licensee of any radio station shall be grounds for the revocation of the station license and the refusal of renewal of the license.

At New Plant

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Oct. 3.—James Ashton, inventor of a new wrought iron process, will throw the switch on October 8 when the new $12,000,000 plant of the A. M. Byers Company is placed in operation. The ceremony will make the culmination of 12 years of effort on the part of this company to manufacture wrought iron under the new process. Secretary of Labor James J. Davis will speak, and notables in the industrial, financial and scientific world will be present.

Kills Self Because Of Friend's Death

(International News Service)

PARIS, Oct. 3.—Grief over the death of a dear friend and associate, distinguished laryngologist, Dr. L. G. Roy, recently caused the suicide of Dr. Daniel Sternberg, attached to the medical department of the Prefecture de Police here. Dr. Sternberg was spending the day with his wife and friends at Alfortville when suddenly he disappeared to a room in the second story and shot himself, leaving a note that life was not worth while without Dr. Roy.

"This supreme act of friendship does not seem highly praiseworthy," comments Jules Veran in "Comedia."

Speaking frankly, I believe it would have been far better for Dr. Sternberg to continue living, guarding the cult of great friendship by spreading the ideals of the laryngologist, his theories and memory and thus continuing his work.

"It is an extraordinary thing, however, to hear of suicide for friendship in these modern days and perhaps we are even better than we make ourselves to be at times."

Conditions Influence Prices
The August 1st potato crop estimates has been greatly reduced by the drought which extended over most of the potato growing states of the east and middle west. The August 1st estimate which was 372 million bushels was reduced by September 1st, according to crop estimates, to 339 million bushels. This is about 20 million bushels less than the field of last year and about 11 per cent below the average crop for the past five years.

Decrease In East

The largest decrease in crop yields is in the eastern states, Maine, Vermont, New York, and Pennsylvania. The crop in these states is estimated at about 12 million bushels less than last year. Of this decrease, Maine, due to extremely wet weather and widespread blight, shows about 8½ million bushels less than last year. Pennsylvania has about 6.8 million bushels less than last year while New York has about 3½ million bushels more.

Michigan and Wisconsin show a decrease of about 1.7 million bushels as compared to last year. The west central states, including Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Nebraska show a decline of 8.8 million bushels.

Increase In West

The western states, including Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, California, Oregon, and Washington, show an increase of 0.3 million bushels over last year. The 16 deficit states will produce, according to the Government estimates, about 7.9 million bushels less than last year and about 10.4 million bushels less than the average production for the past five years.

Potato Shipment Less

Shipments of potatoes up to September 7, 1930 totalled 12,988 cars compared with 9,477 shipped to the same date last year. This heavier movement to market removes the possibility of a large carry over of early potatoes into the fall months when the late crops normally moves. This would indicate that, market-

Thinks Gauls, Not Germans, Found Beer

(International News Service)
PARIS, Oct. 3.—The Germans may drink a deal of beer but the Gauls discovered it. This is the conclusion of Professor Michel Rostovtzeff, of Yale University, who recently read two documents before the Academy of Inscriptions in Paris. One of them came from Trier and the other from Bonn and both of them, which date from the 2nd century, make mention of the dark brown liquid in a manner which gives the credit of discovering it to the Gauls.

It is noted that the Gauls suffered greatly that the two stayed up the night taking further tonic. During the course of the treatment both pledged eternal friendship. The manufacturer insisted as one pal to another that Grant must come out to the Maxwell home in Hutchinson, Kansas, and stay a while.

Grant comes and takes the Maxwell hospitality like another Grant took Richmond. It looked as if winter would be several years old before Grant called it a day and it got so that Maxwell had to lock his cigar humidor, camouflage the liquor cache and throw barbed hints in the direction of his marathon guest.

But the guest was very broad-minded inasmuch as he was innocent of funds to catch a train or even a bicycle.

Finally, when Bob attempted to direct the parent-arranged romance of their ugly duckling daughter, the manufacturer told his life-saver to get out—told him with the same delicacy that he might shoot away a lion with the fleas.

"If that ain't gratitude after I saved your life," remarked the indignant Bob.

Well, the ugly duckling daughter goes to New York to meet Grant and becomes a prima donna in his road show. The capital for such is secretly provided by the sappho who was intended by father Maxwell to be the husband of the daughter.

How To Be An Intellectual In Greenwich Village

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Dramatic Editor
(Copyright, 1930, by International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—If you would be considered intellectual in that suburb of Times Square known as Greenwich Village, the first piece of furniture to get is a bottle of gin.

It is your ticket to Bohemia, and you are assured that the young thoughtful in the vicinity will drop in and entertain themselves with conversational promises of what a beating they will give the literary market the first time they sober up.

Put all this in a cocktail shaker and mix it with a half pint of love and you have "Up Pops the Devil," a play to make you chuckle like a ping-pong ball on a roulette wheel.

The alcoholic intellectual friendship of Steve Merrick with Anne (they don't bother so much with last names in the Village) has been so successful for a year that he decides to chuck his advertising job, write a great novel and marry her.

Bohemians, being incurably optimistic, Steve marries Anne before he finishes spinning the masterpiece.

Old Roman Tablet Dug Up In Church

PISTOLIA, Italy, Oct. 3.—During the repairs now being made to the stone floor, the tombs, and the high altar of St. Dominic's church here, an exceedingly interesting old Roman bas-relief of marble was found here. The temporary removal of a medieval tombstone in the floor of the church brought about the discovery beneath it of the bas-relief, which represents a spirit accompanying a soul into the Land of Shadows.

The bas-relief is considerably eroded by time, but sufficient detail is visible to enable the subject and the artistic merits of the piece to be recognized. Although archeologists are as yet undetermined as to the epoch in which the bas-relief was carved, it is believed to belong to the third or fourth century of the Christian era.

In addition, while one side entrance of St. Dominic's Church was being renovated, some highly interesting fourteenth century frescoes were found, about which a cautious reserve is maintained.

The antics of the visitors to their studio are much more interesting than the working out of their love problem. Incidentally, another advantage of living in Greenwich Village is that whether you reside in a closet or a palace you are entitled to tag it a studio.

To get back to the more intoxicating business of love, Anne takes a job as a dancer in Roxy's ballet so that Steve can write his opus. But laundrymen, bill collectors and peddlers do not know when genius is home wishing to be undisturbed and Steve gets very tired of his housekeeping duties.

There is a quarrel. Then Steve begins to write like a check forger to make a living from his creative thoughts. And he finally sells his stuff regularly to a well-paying magazine so that there is a reconciliation between us intellectuals.

Albert Hackett and Frances Goodrich wrote the gay piece.

I don't believe it teaches you how to write a novel but it does reveal that drunks are so much more amusing on the stage than at your elbows, thank you.

Dressed Up" Cars New Railroad Order

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Exit the drab and uniform severity of railroad trains; enter cars which have been "dressed up" by skilled painters, interior decorators, designers and artists.

Marceau Thierry, chairman of the Equipment Painters division of the American Railway Association, recently told of the new trend at the division's convention here. He said: "The public demands a more beautiful and restful atmosphere while traveling. The novelty of train riding has worn off. It is necessary now to give the passenger an impression of remaining at home while riding."

Formerly any man with a steady hand and a bucket of paint could finish a coach. Today only a skilled artist can do the job."

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Osborne and son, Bobby of Greenville, were all day visitors at the home of his mother Mrs. Jessie Osborne.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ryhal and son Harold and wife and daughter of Warren, Pa., were dinner guests at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. S. W. Edburn on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wayne of Findley, were Sabbath afternoon callers at the home of his sister, Mrs. Robert Heckathorne.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hoagland and family met with an accident while on their way to New Castle on Saturday afternoon, while going up a hill several cars and a buggy were meeting them. The man in the last car put on his brakes to slow down and skidded across the road and hit Hoagland's car, upsetting it and bruising the occupants up badly. The car had to be towed to a garage and left for repairs.

P. & L. E. Officials At Chamber Function

Superintendent F. M. Brown of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad, with E. W. Boots, superintendent of maintenance of way for the road, were in New Castle yesterday representing the company at a special Chamber of Commerce dinner-meeting in the Castleton.

Both returned to their Pittsburgh offices during the afternoon.

problem—and we mean real nuts this time. At its last meeting it deliberated on the subject of nuts and the result is the publication in the Journal Official of a law concerning the misdescriptions regarding the origin of nuts." The text of the law is very short and provides that nuts and kernels of foreign origin may not be exported from or sold in France except under the descriptions of foreign nuts.

This measure bears the signatures of the president, the guardian of seals and the ministers of agriculture, justice, finance, the budget, commerce and industry.

Gland Treatment Will Be Tried To Reform Bad Boy

EDGEMEATER, N. J., Oct. 3.—In the hope of making a little gentleman out of this town's 12-year-old "bad boy," the board of education has voted $50 worth of gland treatment for him. The action was taken after Dr. Charles F. Buckley, school physician, testified he was certain proper treatment of the pituitary gland would cure the child of his "unusual wickedness." The directors were told that since the start of school he has been terrorizing other pupils and his teacher with his pranks.

Another addition to the school's equipment was a huge electric refrigerator for the home economics department. The manual training department has secured equipment for mechanical drawing, along with tables and chairs. The commercial department has been completely equipped with new typewriters.

The teaching force in Bessemer high school is as follows:—

Supervising Principal—H. J. Colton. Principal and Science Teacher—A. L. Winters.

Manual Training and Industrial Arts—H. W. Lukkarila. Home Economics and Household Arts—Mrs. H. W. Lukkarila.

Bessemer High School Notes

The close of the current month was also the end of the first school month for the Bessemer schools. During the past month, all organizations of the high school have been completed, football season has begun, and the school term has achieved a good start on the year's work.

Three high school assemblies have been held thus far. These occur weekly, on Friday afternoons, the last period in the day. Mr. Colton had charge of the assembly for the first time; Mr. Fredericks, the second and Miss Keys, last week's assembly.

The opening of school brought with it several new additions to the school plant. Perhaps the outstanding one is the new athletic field to the rear of the high school building, which has already been used for a football contest. This field was made possible through combined community and school board efforts, and compare favorably with the best of its kind in the state.

Another addition to the school's equipment was a huge electric refrigerator for the home economics department. The manual training department has secured equipment for mechanical drawing, along with tables and chairs. The commercial department has been completely equipped with new typewriters.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.

Be Polite If Talking To Teacher

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Few parents ever go to see the teacher of their children, even in the elementary grades, unless they have some grievance. In consequence, parents by and large have a bad reputation among teachers. And a good many teachers say to one another: "I wish parents would stay home and mind their own business."

If we parents want to do most for the success of our children at school we will visit their teacher and school when all is going well.

Your child brings home some papers which you think were not graded properly, or makes some complaint about his teacher, and your first impulse is to pass judgment at once upon the matter, directly condemning the teacher before your child, or implying condemnation of her. Perhaps long before you have cooled off you dash off to see that teacher. On the way you angrily resolve that you are going to give her "a piece of your mind" going to tell her what to do and what not to do. If your child is in the early grades she probably has been accustomed to have you pamper her and to scold those she accuses of mistreating her. Now she happily looks forward to seeing her teacher get a good sound scolding from her mother.

Well, suppose you do go and make a fool of yourself. You will get nowhere but to have the savage satisfaction of relieving yourself of pent-up rage by venting it out on the teacher. What is the effect? The teacher is enraged against you. She resolves to get even by "taking it out on the child." The child and teacher grow in mutual hatred. At best, you and your child are the biggest losers. You had forgotten that you had not hired the teacher and that you have no power to fire her. Neither will she take orders from you. And then you pay taxes. Of course. Instead of getting better service from your taxes you, through your own stupidity, get worse service. You might

Penn. Girl Made Happy

MANY times a child has everything to make her happy and still is dissatisfied. This may not be the youngster's fault. Often it is due to a condition easily corrected.

Take the experience of Mrs. Gertrude Sees, 216 Roberta Ave., Philadelphia, who says: "Nothing seemed to please Georgiana. She was fretful, feverish, wasn't sleeping right. She was constipated.

"We saw California Fig Syrup advertised and got some. It relieved her trouble promptly; made her bright and happy again. We have used it for three years."

Mothers by thousands praise this pure vegetable product. Children love it. Doctors recommend it to relieve constipation, feverishness, fretfulness, headaches; to open the bowels in colds or children's ailments.

Appetite is increased by the use of California Fig Syrup; breath is sweetened; coated tongue is cleared; digestion and assimilation are aided; weak bowels and stomach are strengthened.

For your protection, the genuine always bears the name California.

Prehistoric Surgical Kit Is Discovered

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 3—Discovery of what archaeologists identified as a prehistoric surgical kit beneath a cliff dwelling near the Utah-Arizona border has been reported by Zeke Johnson, guide of the Clas. L. Bernheim expedition of the American Museum of Natural History.

The kit, containing a variety of wooden instruments was contained in a hollow wooden tube, covered by the skin of an animal, Mr. Johnson said.

He said that archaeologists in the party expressed the belief that the surgical instruments were used by basket weavers long before the coming of the cliff dwellers.

American Prefers England To Die In

Provide Penalty For Employers Who Ignore Insurance

Bureau Of Workmen's Compensation Stresses Necessity For Carrying Insurance

In order that employees who are injured during the course of their employment may receive the benefits to which they may be entitled under the Workmen's Compensation Law and that employers may fully cover their liability of the Department of Labor and Industry is endeavoring to impress upon all employers, throughout the Commonwealth, the necessity for carrying compensation insurance.

The Legislature in 1929 amended the Workmen's Compensation Law by fixing a penalty of from $100.00 to $500.00 fine and costs of prosecution or imprisonment for a period of not more than six months or both at the discretion of the Court for failure to carry compensation insurance.

In some localities the impression seems to prevail that the employment of only one person does not require the employer to carry compensation insurance. W. H. Horner, Director of the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation, calls attention to the fact that this impression is erroneous and that the law applies to all employers regardless of the number of persons employed, and states that the only class of employees excluded from the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Law are agricultural workers or farmers, domestic servants and persons who are engaged to do certain work which is not in the course of the regular business of the employer and is known as casual employment.

A check-up on persons employing labor is being made by the Bureau of Inspection of the Department of Labor and Industry, and those found to be violating the Law will be prosecuted.

Compensation insurance can be secured from any stock or mutual insurance company authorized by the Insurance Department to write compensation insurance in this state.

Experts Plan New Study Of Taxation

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 3—Taxation, the unsolved problem of government after centuries of study, will come up again for a lambasting and review here, October 20 to 24, when more than 500 tax experts from all parts of the United States meet for the annual convention of the National Tax Association.

Government and corporation tax experts and economists from large universities will make up the group of distinguished figures that will attend the meeting.

With the farmer complaining of depressed conditions, attributed largely to over taxation, the symposium on farm taxation, it is expected, will be widely participated in.

The meeting will be presided over by R. Wayne Newton, director of taxation of the Michigan farm bureau.

Her injuries included a fractured skull, a dislocated vertebra in the neck—and ivy poisoning. She was thrown in a growth of poison ivy when her car left the road.

SAYS BUSINESS TROUBLES BEGAN SIX YEARS AGO

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 3—The business depression began six years ago, and not in 1929, as is generally believed, according to statistics just released here by Chief Justice Henry Olson of the Municipal Court.

Since business activity has been shown to move in cycles of approximately ten years, the statistics indicate that the depression is nearing its end.

In releasing his figures, Judge Olson said:

"The municipal court is the only court in the country which has kept accurate and adequate statistics for any length of time. The court has a record of money judgments against defendants from 1907 to the present date.

"These records show a gradual increase of money judgments from $1,500,000 in 1907 to $12,000,000 in 1924

This increase is due to the increase in population during that period.

"From 1924 to 1929 there has been an increase of more than $16,000,000 a greater amount than the total of any year previous."

Judge Olson asserted that the figures are circumstantial evidence that defendants were unable to pay their just debts.

To Restore Pipe Organ In Versailles Chateau

(International News Service)

PARIS, Oct. 3—The magnificent pipe organ in the Chateau of Versailles which has been silent for nearly sixty years will soon be restored and put in readiness to play. It was built in 1736 and is considered to be one of the finest in the world. The last time it was heard was at a charity fete during the Franco-Prussian war in 1871.

The famous bells at Arras which were made silent during the war have recently been heard. This carillon is one of the most beautiful in Europe.

Battle SaturdayEllwood City High Hopes To Win Second Game Of Season TomorrowBUTLER TEAM IS REPORTED GOOD

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 3.—Ellwood City High's blue and white gridders will play their second contest of the season tomorrow afternoon on Lincoln field when they clash with Butler High school. The Tubers won their first battle of the year last Saturday by defeating Union by a one-sided score. Ingle's machine hopes to continue their winning by conquering the Butler county foe.

Since last week's tilt Coach Ingle and his two assistants, Ralston and Lloyd have been grooming the squad and patching up all defects that were visible in the opening fray. Ellwood was very strong in their aerial attack but the line at times weakened and must be perfected for the future contests.

Great interest is now being given to the fact that Ellwood will be represented on the gridiron by a second aggregation which will tonight clash with Ben Franklin Junior High school of New Castle. None of Coach Ingle's first string of eighteen men will be able to take part but it will give the reserve material a chance to get experience. The kickoff was set for four o'clock and the following lineup will take part in the fray. Seged at fullback, Hampton and Paal at the halves, Roebuck, quarterback, A. Wilson and Offutt at the wing positions, E. McKim and Maletta at the tackles, W. Thomas and Burns guards, and Hemmerly at center.

A very important feature which was brought up by Faculty manager, P. L. Uebel was the fact that all boys who wish to play must have a permit card signed by the parents.

For reserve material to the above eleven there will be Moses, Wehman, Garkowski, Campbell, J. Frisk, Barnes, Kane, Howrlik, Krebs, Bieselt, Butler, McCloskey and Savor. A contest of this kind will enable practically everyone on the squad to show their merit and perhaps recognition to the first string.

A return game has been scheduled with Ben Franklin and will take place in New Castle on November 14th.

Frost Does Damage
To Vegetables In
Ellwood Vicinity

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 3.—Reports are made by farmers from various sections of country surrounding Ellwood City concerning the destruction of vegetables by recent frosts.

According to reports from Wurtemberg, from farms near Van Gorder's Mills, the corn remaining in the fields has been destroyed. Tomatoes next, the Ellwood Country club remain unharmed, although the vines are blackened by the frost. Cucumbers are destroyed in most sections.

On toward Portersville, along the new highway, the report has it that very little damage has been done by the frost. The heavy fog in the valley farms have prevented destruction of crops to a large extent.

Bingo Party Brings
Contest To Finish

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 3.—Covers were laid for 46 at the table where a delicious tureen dinner was served by members of the Pythian Sisters lodge in their hall on Fourth street last night.

Following the regular lodge meeting bingo in charge of the losing team, headed by Mrs. N. A. Yoho, who called numbers, was featured.

Mrs. John Collins' group won the contest of points by a margin of 100. The contest has been on since May.

Meetings

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 3.—C. E. Sankey, safety director of the National Tube company with offices in Pittsburgh, addressed a large assembly of men in the William Penn hotel Wednesday, concerning the use of goggles in the mill. This meeting was one of 49 in session carrying out the great safety program. A large display of safety appliances has been placed between Sixth street and Liberty avenue.

Many men from the Ellwood National Tube company have been attending the safety meetings. Others representing the city have gone from the council.

Included in this number are Burgess Jeffer, John Powell, president of council, and Councilmen Ray Wilson and Gail Morrison. From the finishing department of the National Tube company are Clyde Houk, H. E. McClymonds, Charles Durbin and W. D. Manning.

Others attending the meeting are George Nicklas, William R. Johnston, William Mattocks, Robert Forbes, Harry Wasser, A. P. Jordan, Dr. Charles Bell, D. R. Williams, D. J. Williams, Oliver Lewis, Homer Christy, Harry Richards, William Wyskopf, George Cowan, Fred Markle and Andy Funk.

Seniors Dress Up
Part Of InitiationFifty Students Initiated Into Commercial Club At High School Gym

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 3.—Today is the day when members of the Senior Class in the Ellwood High School are proving their good sportsmanship by making themselves ridiculous. Or is it being ridiculous to be admired and envied by ones class-mates who did not make the average of 50 which was the entrance ticket to the Commercial club initiation last night.

In one group we see a crowd of girls wearing their hats, galoshes, gloves and carrying umbrellas. Boys are in their classes wearing their mother's or their apron, carrying a broom and dustpan. Other girls are wearing their dresses backwards, wearing one light and one dark stocking and one high heeled shoe and one low. Still another group carries a baby doll, all day sucker and wears spectacles.

Best of all during the assembly in the auditorium this morning these classmates were called to the platform and were introduced.

At the meeting of the club last night, the fun reigned in the large gym room, which was darkened for the occasion. The committee comprising Gladys Hemmerly, Dorothy Thompson and Doris Hale, dressed in clothes befitting a spook kept its audience of fifty frightened and shocked in turn and wound up the ceremony with long tiresome speeches in monotone. At this time promises were made which resulted in today's mode of costume.

Principal Bell brought a bit of light into the meeting with a pep speech followed by a program of music and readings. Luncheon was served by a committee and plans were made for a wiener roast next Thursday night.

Dames Of Malta

At Council MeetingA Number Of Important Matters Discussed By Council At Special Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 3.—The regular order of business was suspended last night when the members of Ellwood boro council assembled for the special adjourned meeting to receive the recommendation by the street committee for approving the award of contract for the approaches to the Second street viaduct.

Following the approval of council for the award the approval must be granted by the National Tube Company and P. and L. E. Railroad before the work can be started.

Upon recommendation of the street committee last night Albert Dahl is approved as contractor of the approaches, his bid being lowest, $23,743.71. This amount is $14,000 below the highest bidder for the job. A vote was taken by councilmen and was unanimous in allowing the approval remain as presented by Ray Wilson and Clyde Houk, representing the street committee.

Other bidders for the contract were: Pihl and Miller, Inc., Pittsburgh, $26,561.09; Woods and Golder Construction Company, New Castle, $29,428.20; F. S. Wilson Company, Kittanning, $30,403.00; Paul B. Thompson, Mercer, $33,261.10; E. F. Scanlon, New Castle, $37,327.26.

Captain Frank Hawks arrived at Curtiss Airport, Valley Stream, L. I., after flying from Detroit, approximately 640 miles, in 2 hours and 41 minutes, concluding an exceptional feat at an altitude of about 3,500 feet.

Prevent Accidents

W. A. Kerr brought up the subject of danger caused by young children with traffic signs standing in the middle of the road at the close of each school session.

He stated that he had been talking to W. Ray Smith, superintendent of the schools and that it had been suggested that a stop light operated from the school building might be satisfactory. A vote was taken by councilmen and instructions were given to the police committee with the business and city manager to investigate, learn what could be done about securing a permission from the state in regard to operating such a stop light and report if possible at the next regular meeting of council.

Lowell W. Monroe, boro manager, suggested that council should look into the matter of street signs. He said that people wishing to be directed through the town had no signs by which they could learn of their destination. Since the corners have been rounded Ellwood has been without signs of direction.

He brought out a sample in aluminum which would cost the town $9.00. This amount covers the two way sign and post. With the added expense of installing the total cost would estimate about $10.50, according to the boro manager.

As the finance committee set aside $1500 to be used for signs, two years ago, there remains funds for this suggestion to be carried out.

The street committee and boro manager were instructed to investigate the matter and report at the next meeting.

The short session of council was concluded with the order to close Short street during the time of the High school football games, as has been the custom for a number of years.

Lazo Rahoreze of Sixth street was admitted to the Ellwood City hospital yesterday.

Mrs. William Bradford of Camp Run, who suffered a stroke of paralysis several weeks ago, is again able to be about her home.

Mrs. Clyde Bonnett and brother-in-law of Baltimore motored to Ellwood yesterday, bringing back with them Mrs. Bonnett's mother, Mrs. Whittaker of Spring avenue.

Florence, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cook of Wurtemburg, who has been in the Jameson Memorial hospital for several weeks with typhoid fever, is now confined to bed in her home. Her condition remains the same.

Would Eliminate Death-Trap Type Of School Vehicle In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 3.—Charging that vehicles used for the transfer of school children in certain sections are unfit for such service, the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, State unit of the American Automobile Association today called on the authorities to include school busses in the general check-up ordered recently by Governor Fisher.

"Just as a fire-trap type of building is condemned for school use, so a bus that is not properly equipped and protected should be banned," said S. Edward Gable, president of the Federation. "It is just as important to safeguard the lives of children on the highways, where danger is ever present, as it is to protect the youngsters in and around the school buildings."

A law providing for more strict supervision of school busses will be urged at the next session of the Legislature, according to the Federation head. "It has been reported to us that in certain districts little attention is given the transportation question," he said. "The contract for school bus service being awarded to the lowest bidder without due consideration of the facilities has been referred. The Public Service Commission has just decided to a certain extent over vehicles used as common carriers, but even with this supervision we are told that in some sections improvised busses with antiquated bodies, inadequate exits and no fire protection are used day after day to convey capacity loads of children to and from school. These vehicles may pass the "Most of the school busses in use in Pennsylvania today are modern and safe, but each and every one should be of that type. In addition to the motor code's requirements for license and the Public Commission's conditions for a permit to operate a school bus there should be a periodical check-up of these facilities by the State Motor Patrol or other constituted authorities. In this way—and in this way only—can exact conditions be ascertained and the death-trap type of school vehicle banned from the public highways."

Takes Constable's Oath By Mistake

(International News Service) LONDON, Oct. 3.—Thomas Williams is wondering whether or not he is a fully-fledged cop. It happened this way:

Williams, testifying at Willesdon police court on behalf of a Communist, refused to take the oath and was handed a card so that he might affirm.

By mistake, the wrong card was handed him, and by the time a startled court had realized what had happened Williams had unwittingly taken the oath of allegiance as a special constable.

Thus far, no authority has come forward to straighten out the situation.

The Dawn Of The Gospel

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

And they were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless.—Luke 1:6.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL This first of a new series of lessons brings us into the delightful atmosphere of an ideal Jewish home in those days of expectancy when the devout of Israel were "looking for the consolation of Israel." It is an exhilarating and refreshing atmosphere, and represents the most vital need of the modern home.

Luke's description of Zacharias and Elizabeth, the parents of John the Baptist, is: "They were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless." It was to such a home that God entrusted the rearing of the child who was to become the herald of the Messiah of Israel's expectation, a home permeated with the spirit of prayer and the word of God, an obscure home as was also that of the carpenter of Nazareth, but God loves to find His way into these homes.

Security and poverty are no barriers to the Lord God when he is seeking homes to entrusted with the rearing of those who are to be numbered among the greatest of them that are born of women. It was while ministering in the line of duty as a priest that Zacharias received the amazing revelation of the angel of the Lord that the prayers of his home had been heard and that God would marvelously use that home in His service. It was not because he was a priest that God thus spoke to Zacharias. It was rather because he was faithfully doing his duty in his God appointed task.

To others God has made the plow, the boat, or the seat of custom the place of communion and revelation. To us it may be at the office desk, the shop bench or the kitchen sink that he meets us either in the place of duty as in Zacharias' case or the place of meditation as in the Virgin Mary's case.

An Atmosphere of Praise

From such homes of piety, prayer and praise came John and Jesus, whose births are announced in this lesson, the one "great in the sight of the Lord" and the other the Lord himself, "the Son of the Highest."

"John" meaning "Jehovah has been gracious" and "Jesus" meaning "the Saviour One." Their birth marked the dawn of a new era. This new day was ushered in by an outburst of sacred songs such as "The Magnificat" of Mary and "The Benedic" of Zacharias. Salvation calls for song and puts a song in the heart.

Lips closed as were those of Zacharias when his faith faltered at the greatness of God's promise burst forth in songs of praise at the dawning of the day of salvation, singing of "salvation unto his people by the remission of sins, through the tender mercy of our God, whereby the dayspring from on high hath visited us, to give light to them that sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, to guide our feet into the way of peace." This salvation with its light and peace still fills with song the hearts and homes of all who will receive it in the day of Zacharias and Elizabeth when the "dayspring from on high" marked the dawn of the Christian era.

(The International Uniform Lesson for October 5 is Luke 1:5-80, particularly vs. 5, 6, 57-66, 76-80, the subject being "Zacharias and Elizabeth" and the Golden Text, Luke 1:6. They were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless.)

Dance Halls And Ice Rinks Start War

(International News Service)

London, Oct. 3.—War has broken out in the London entertainment world. The battleground is the ice-rinks and dance halls of the capital, and the issue to be decided is whether ice-skating is good or bad for the health of the skater.

Say the dance-hall proprietors: Girls who value their appearance should beware of thickening ankles through ice-skating.

To which the ice-drome people retort: Ice-skating is far more healthy than dancing in the overheated atmosphere of a ballroom.

And there the matter rests at the moment while the opponents think up a few statements for and against.

TO FEATURE OLD VEHICLES

Every mode of transportation from 1800 to the present day starting with the ox-cart and closing the parade line with the modern auto will be presented here on October 8, when the Perry Highway opening is to be celebrated.

W. S. Moffat, the secretary of the day's festivities, which will include a visit to the town of Governor J. S. Fisher and other state officials, announces the securing of this varied array even including a tally-ho that will be shown with all the proper setting of dress and horse flesh that made this outfit the ace of its day.

MORE HIGHWAY CRASHES

Two accidents on the Perry highway south of here within a 24-hour period emphasize the need of motor police on this new route which is being traveled more extensively than any other route out of Mercer just at present.

Not only is the new road being used as a speedway but the driving is reported to be of the most careless character.

The fact that three men were injured rather than killed is not due to any care on the part of those responsible.

WELCH LINE EXPANDS

Until October 15, the Welch Transportation Company has put in operation buses on their line from Meadville to Portersville with a Pittsburgh connection and the taking over of the Vogon line from here to Cochranton with an extension into Franklin. Welch is said to have ordered four new buses for delivery. This will make him the largest operator in Western Pennsylvania. The company is now operating a line from Franklin to New Castle and into Butler.

ILLS VANISHED—WHOLE SYSTEM VASTLY AIDED

New Castle Citizen's Health Restored

By Ten Herbs

"Ten Herbs built up my health by benefiting my whole system," said Mr. Peter Benson, 504 Riverview Ave., New Castle. "I will praise your medicine in the future as I have in the past for the way it relieved me of stomach, kidney and bowel disorders.

Before using Ten Herbs my kidneys were not working properly. I had pains across my back and had to arise about every hour. I was troubled with rheumatism and all my joints ached.

Food did not digest as it should, and gas on my stomach kept me from sleeping well at night. Nervousness troubled me and I was constipated.

Later I tried Ten Herbs and before long I felt fine in every respect. My kidneys got in good condition. My appetite was restored and I was no longer troubled with gas on my stomach. Constipation was ended. Then I was able to work every day without getting tired. It gives me pleasure to recommend Ten Herbs to others."

Ten Herbs is sold at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 E. Washington St., and by all leading druggists throughout this entire section.

New Gas Field In Pennsylvania Is Discovered

Paying Wells Are Drilled In District Thought Barren
Heretofore

DISCOVERY PUZZLES HEAD OF STATE SURVEY

May Presage Discovery Of Gas In Other Localities
At Greater Depths

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 3.—The drilling in of two large gas wells in Pennsylvania far outside of the main gas field has aroused considerable interest in the geology of the areas involved and its bearing on the occurrence of more natural gas in those areas. Asked regarding the matter Dr. George H. Ashley, head of the bureau of topographic and geological survey of the department of internal affairs, replied as follows:

"The oil and gas region of Pennsylvania may be divided into four belts: first, a northwestern belt including Erie, Crawford and northwest Mercer counties with small production, due mainly to the thinning out in that area of most of the sandstones that serve as reservoirs for the oil and gas; second, the oil field proper, lying east and south of the first belt, in which both oil and gas occur. Its eastern boundary runs from northeast McLean county southward past Clarion, Redbank and a little east of Pittsburgh to the southeast corner of Greene county; third, the gas belt, lying east of the oil belt and west of a line through Conemaugh, DuBois, thence to the crest of Chestnut Ridge and south along that ridge; fourth, a belt between the line just drawn and the crest of Allegheny mountain covering the eastern and northeastern coal counties and the northern counties to the Delaware river.

Outside Regular Field.

The last belt coincides with the area of low volatile coals within the coal field, and it has been generally assumed that there is a direct relation between the low volatile character of the coal and the small gas content of the underlying rocks, due to the more intense folding of the rocks in this belt than in the belts farther west. However, as shown by the varying content of volatile matter in the coals, the rocks in this belt have not all been equally folded.

"Until recently only small amounts of gas have been struck in drilling east of Chestnut Ridge, notwithstanding much drilling done. It may instances well have obtained enough gas for local household use, and near Carrollton, Cambria county, gas enough to serve the town for many years was found. In general the coal in the counties of this belt, including in Tioga and Bradford, has less than 20 per cent volatile matter, as contrasted with 33 per cent or more in Allegheny, Beaver and other northwestern counties.

"Until recently inquirers who asked regarding the chances of striking gas east of Chestnut Ridge have been told that the area of this fourth belt is all gas territory, but that both theory and experience did not lend encouragement to hope for large wells or to expect that drilling in that territory would likely repay the cost of drilling.

"While in general, that outlook still holds, recently two wells have been drilled in that area to give promise of paying for themselves.

Have Good Prospects.

"One of these is on the O. S. Moore farm in Quemahoning township, Somerset county. This well starts in the Conemaugh formation or lower barren coal measures of the second geological survey and reaches what appears to be the fifth sand of the main oil and gas pools at 2,548 feet. It started with an initial rock pressure of 750 pounds per square inch and daily production of one million cubic feet. The well is located one-quarter mile northeast of Texas school on Beaver Dam creek. An examination of the structure published several years ago by the Pennsylvania Geological Survey shows that this is directly in the center of the Somerset syncline, but in a saddle or high point in that syncline.

"It is to be remembered that in the dry sands of Pennsylvania production comes from the synclines as well as the anti-clines, and that porosity of the rock is of more importance than structure in determining production.

"The other well is located between Nelson and Tioga in Tioga, about three miles south by east from the former, and three-eighths of a mile south of the southwest corner of Lawrence township. This well is reported to have started with a flow of 11,000,000 cubic feet and a high rock pressure and to have increased its flow as the days have gone by. The latest report states that the well produces 20,000,000 cubic feet a day, open flow. (It is now connected with the pipe lines). This well starts in what has been called the Chemung formation of the Upper Devonian or Age of Fishes. As the well started far down in that formation at 4,210 feet it is possible that the Onondaga or 'Coriferous' limestone was reached. That limestone has proved to be oil or gas bearing from New York to Kentucky, or the gas may come from the Oriskany sandstone which immediately underlies the other. In any case it is supposed that the gas originally came from the Marcellus black.

Shale that lies on the top of the Onondaga. It is on a broad, flat anticline, the Sabinsville anticline, that enters Tioga county northeast of Sunbury, passes south of Sabinsville and East Chatham, north of Little Marsh, south of Elbridge and almost through Lathrop, passing out of the county at the northeast corner. The exact position of the axis is uncertain because of the flatness of the rock. The geology of this area has been described in the U. S. Geological Survey folio 93, Elkland-Tioga. This is no longer obtainable from official sources, but can be consulted in libraries.

"As shown in that land a mile or two either side of the line given would be classed as favorable for gas.

Little Known of District.

"Little detailed study has yet been given this part of the state but it is believed that the Chestnut Ridge anticline of southwest Pennsylvania corresponds, or extends into the Towanda anticline of northeast Pennsylvania which crosses the southeast corner of Tioga county. Between that and the Sabinsville anticline is the Blosom syncline, which contains the Antim-Blossom coal basin; the Wellsboro, East Charleston, Canoe Creek, half way between Elk Run and Rutland, and through Snedecerville; the Pine Creek syncline passing close to Gurnee, Middlebury Center, Holliday, Mill Creek and Jobs Corners. On the north the axis of the Cowanesque syncline passes near Elmer, Phillips, Knoxville and north of Osceola and Elkland.

"As to the future, in its structural relations the Sabinsville anticline, as just pointed out, lies west or rather north of the Chestnut Ridge anticline extended, and thus is well in the belt. The presence of the Gaines oil pool only 20 miles away would favor the possibility that the rocks of this area have not been subjected to such pressure as would have driven out the oil or gas they might have obtained. On the other hand, the coal of the Blossom basin has only from 18 to 21.5 per cent of volatile matter which places it among the low volatile coals, and those coals are characteristic of the fourth belt described above, or the belt of small gas wells and many dry holes. If the area proves to contain a large body of gas it may be anticipated that gas may be found off the anticline, but at much greater depth. It may be estimated that the sand encountered in this drilling will be not less than 3,500 feet deeper in the center of basins where the coal occurs. The present well appears to be on the north side of the anticline, possibly a half mile north of the axis, though that is not certain. On that basis it may be estimated that the productive sand may be encountered at depths of less than 5,000 feet over a belt four miles wide, centering on the axis given."

Dies At 88 After Suffering 66 Years From War Injury

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Oct. 3.—An infected knee from injuries suffered during the Civil War was declared to have been partly the cause of the death of Robert Walker, 84, of Dallas avenue and Freeport road, Natrona Heights, today, in his home.

Walker's knee was pierced by the stirrup of a saddle during field practice in Chambersburg, where he was on camp duty in 1864. The injury was said to have been poisoned by the blue uniform Walker wore and resulted in complications from which he suffered the rest of his life. He was a member of the Independent infantry. Walker's father, W. Lester Walker, was at one time superintendent of the Brackenridge plant of the Allegheny Steel Company. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home with burial in the Evergreen cemetery, Leechburg.

Widow Destitute When Home Burns

FARRELL, Pa., Oct. 3.—Mrs. J. Gaydek, widow, and her two small children are homeless and destitute as a result of a fire which destroyed their residence in Fruit avenue, last night. They were away when the fire started.

Forty-Three Aged Ladies Are At Almira Home Now

Out on the East Side, not so exceedingly far from the center of town but that it is easily accessible, but far enough removed to be free from the bustle and bustle and dirt and grime of the city's commercial and industrial activities, is an institution of which New Castle may well be proud. It is the Almira Home, a home for aged Christian women.

Setting back from Washington Street, the home greets the casual eye as a handsome brick structure, too large for a private residence, but with something of that homelike atmosphere about it which belies the institutional-like bulk of its proportions. That is just what the Almira Home is; an institution which, while remaining an institution, achieves the maximum in providing a cozy nook with all the comforts of home for respectable Christian women who find themselves without a home in their declining years.

Thirty-Four Years Old

The Almira Home stands as a monument to the years of toil of Mrs. Henrietta Butler, who in the early nineties conceived the idea of such an institution. Assisted by Almira P. Martin, she laid the foundation for the home by making a door-to-door canvass for funds and crying its needs to the charitably inclined of the five counties which were asked to participate in its construction. They were Lawrence, Venango, Mercer, Butler, and Beaver counties. The home now embraces only four counties in its scope, Beaver having withdrawn.

The first tangible move came with the donation of a property on the Butler road by the late Captain Marquis. This building was found unfit for use and the campaign was carried on for additional funds to purchase the homestead of Captain D. C. Irish. This was accomplished in 1893 after several years of ceaseless effort.

The first inmate was taken into the home on August 8, 1896 and the Almira Home has carried on its humanitarian work without interruption, since that time.

The Home Association soon outgrew its original property and another intensive campaign was inaugurated a decade later to build the present structure. It was completed and opened for use in 1907.

The newer structure stands on the plot of ground on the northeast corner of Washington Street and Almira Avenue, the old homestead standing beside it. The property is kept in excellent condition and is one of the beauty spots of the city.

Few Cars Inspected Are Being Rejected

If interviews with garagemen who are taking part in the statewide motor vehicle equipment inspections in the city are considered as proof, there are thousands of motorists who will rush to the stations for tests on or just a few days before the zero date, October 31, approaches.

Since the beginning of the inspections the stickers of the State Department of Revenue, on September 15, applicants in New Castle have been few at the different official stations, considering last year. One garageman in the city said that better grades of cars are now being taken for inspections and that the poorer cars will be brought at the last opportunity.

One of the largest sales and service organizations here is also one of the leading inspection stations. Mechanics there said Thursday they had inspected and approved 490 automobiles since September 15, rejecting stickers going to only five, due to extreme poor condition of cars presented for the inspection.

Another station reported that condition of cars taken for inspection this year is better than those brought the same time of the month a year ago. This statement was corroborated by the manager of another garage who said motorists are either taking better care of their cars this year or have little trouble with better models than a year ago.

Observers here report the inspections throughout the state are more rigid than last year. A city garage manager said the state made an attempt to confine stations this year to people better equipped to handle the repair end. Secretary of Revenue Charles Johnson, it is reported, has issued strict orders not to issue stickers promiscuously.

Another garage reported that the number of inspection stations is 27 less in this district than at the last inspection.

In the city it is reported that headlights are the chief cause of rejections, with brakes next in order. Instances where cars are not approved at the initial inspection, a yellow blank copy of the white blank on which the inspection queries are printed, is sent to the Department of Revenue. When the inspection is successful on second trial a white blank is sent to the capital. The white blank supplements the yellow blank. In cases of failure to pass, the yellow blank at Harrisburg helps officials to keep a check on poor-conditioned cars.

The cars are inspected for the following:

General condition, registration plates, horn, windshield wiper, steering, mirror, brakes and lights.

It will be noted that the windshield strikers attached after a successful inspection are different in color and form from those used during last year's campaign.

Careful attention is given by the stations to headlights, and in checking rear lamps position requirements in order that the lamps should illuminate the rear plates are born in mind.

Within a few days after the opening of the campaign the State Highway Department began warning motorists on the highways whose cars did not bear official strikers, and the cooperation of all local police throughout the state was requested for the same purpose.

Brief Comment On Hoover's Message

"A sound, safe and constructive speech from an able president" was the term New Castle's delegation used today in commenting upon the address they heard President Hoover deliver at the closing session of the American Bankers' Association convention at Cleveland last night.

They report the city's public auditorium was taxed to capacity and other halls in the huge building were so connected by amplifiers with the main auditorium that hundreds of additional persons could hear.

Bankers of the county who attended were Frank A. Schulz and E. E. McGill, Lawrence Savings and Trust; Joel S. McKee, First National Bank of Lawrence County; Adolph Green and John D. Kennedy, People Savings and Trust Company; H. T. Getty, First National at New Wilmington and president of the County Bankers' Association, and Charles Weitz, Bessemer State Bank.

Promotion Day In Third Church

Different Departments Will Receive New Scholars At Morning Session

Sunday will be especially interesting in the Sabbath school of the Third United Presbyterian church when the members of the various departments will be promoted from one division to another.

There will be a group pass from the Young People's to the senior young people's department; a class from the intermediate to the young people's department; 25 girls and 18 boys from the junior to the intermediate department and 20 will go from the primary to the junior department and 30 who have been beginners will go into the primary department.

Sabbath school of which G. H. Colton is superintendent, will begin at 9:45 promptly and its expected every pupil will be in his place at that time, anxious for the promotion program.

Pittsburgh Negro Wounded By Bullet

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Oct. 3.—Philip Stewart, 28, negro, was shot in the right leg when bullets which Mrs. Gene Freeman, 29, was alleged to have been shooting at her husband, John, 24, went wide of their intended mark today.

Stewart was removed to his home after treatment at the Passavant hospital.

The Freeman couple is being held by police. Mrs. Freeman is alleged to have fired three shots at her husband during the course of a quarrel on a street corner.

A suspicious person charge was placed against the husband and wife.

Boy Fatally Hurt As Plane Crashes

(International News Service) ATTICA, Oct. 3.—One boy was dead today and another seriously injured as a result of being struck by an airplane which crashed in an attempted takeoff at the fair grounds here.

Franklyn Coxton, 11, was killed and Lloyd M. Kaufman, Jr., 12, hurt when the plane crashed into a group of spectators after a faulty start.

Three occupants of the wrecked plane escaped injury.

Since the police department has entered in upon its campaign against dogs allowed to run at large, there has been a very noticeable decrease in the number of dogs running about the streets of the city.

It is the intention of the police to strictly enforce the ultimatum issued that stray dogs are to be killed, regardless of whether they are licensed or not.

This now seems to be quite general.

Gym Season To Commence Soon

Many New Features Will Mark Health Term At Local Y. W. C. A.

CLASSES START OCTOBER 13th

Health Education committee members met at the Y. W. C. A. on Wednesday and, with Miss Frances Carey, general secretary and Miss Caroline Streeter, health director, outlined a tentative program for the first term of physical education.

Week of October 13 will be the time, the Y. W. C. A. building the place and classes will be under the able supervision of Miss Streeter.

Department of Health Education is looking forward to a season that will surpass any other in attendance, enthusiasm and novel activities.

One of the many new features of the coming term will be a "variety class" to be held once a week and will include stunts of all sorts, pyramid building, games such as basketball and volleyball, folk and tap dancing and apparatus work.

This class has not yet been placed on the schedule but will be if there is sufficient demand for it.

Then roller skating will be on the gym schedule for the first time and the director is anticipating that this class will draw a large number of athletic young women every week. The gymnasium will be used as the skating rink.

Bowling will have a prominent place in the activities of the health department members. Plans were discussed at Wednesday's meeting of the committee, to re-model the bowling alleys in the Y. W. C. A. basement, and equip it to meet the needs of the bowlers. Teams will be organized and the sport will furnish exercise and fun galore.

Basketball always is popular and will be played in all the classes. Volley ball will also be taught.

On every Monday, beginning October 6, senior Girl Reserves will be instructed in tap dancing between the hours of 7:30 and 8:30 p. m.

Every Tuesday a gym class will be conducted from 7:30 to 8:15, the committee decided, and health class will be held every Wednesday morning between 10:00 and 10:45.

A class in gymnastics will be held on Thursday mornings between 10:00 and 10:45, and a gym class for younger girls will meet weekly on Saturday mornings from 9:30 to 10:30.

Those classes were conducted at the same days and hours last term. Rates will be the same as last year.

New Wilmington and Ellwood City schedules have not as yet been definitely arranged, nor have the basketball, roller skating and bowling classes.

Health Education committee, under the chairmanship of Miss Mary Bigley, has made arrangements for descriptive folders to be sent to prospective members of the various classes. Enrollment is now open and arrangements for entrance in any of the classes can be made by calling Miss Streeter at the Y. W. C. A.

The first term will include 14 weeks of training and the season includes 28 weeks.

The committee will meet the first Wednesday of every month. There are several new members this year. At each meeting they will make plans for special events—picnics, hikes, parties, competitive games, etc. They will give much of their time in order to make this season in the health department, the best ever.

Postmaster Asks Help Of Patrons On Rural Routes

Advises Letter Boxes Be Given Final Once Over Before Winter Comes

A timely request addressed to rural patrons of the New Castle post office asking their co-operation in placing country letter boxes in a satisfactory shape for the coming winter, was made by Postmaster Edwin Crawford today.

Said Mr. Crawford:

"Since winter and cold weather is close at hand, the post office desires that all rural mail boxes and the driveways leading up to them be placed in such a condition that carriers may approach the box and deposit mail without having to leave their machines."

The postmaster added that a postal regulation provides that carriers must not leave their cars. Patrons neglecting the matter may find their mail detained at the post office until proper attention is given.

French Film Star Likes Hollywood Only

(International News Service) PARIS, Oct. 3—Hollywood is all right but the rest of America is impossible according to French film star Suzanne Delve, who recently returned from there. "Except for 'filmland' where the climate makes a great deal of difference" said the French girl. "I found America not at all pleasant. I was never so homesick in my life as over there and I have been away from France many times. Perhaps it's the bigness of it. I could scarcely wait to get home again."

RAZOR REVOLUTION

New Invention Antiquates all other Safety Razors

NEW GEM MICROMATIC RAZOR AND BLADES TAKE NEW CASTLE BY STORM

SHAVING TRANSFORMED

DISCOVERS NEW SHAVING PRINCIPLE

New Razor Invention Gets Government Recognition on Important Patents

Revolutionary new ideas are embodied in the new Gem Micromatic Razor placed on the market today. Not just an improvement but a brand new way of shaving, this precision shaving instrument threatens to antiquate all razors new or old now in use. Both razor and blade are radically different.

Nothing to Take Apart

It is all one piece—there is nothing to take apart. It is extremely simple to clean and load.

Fascinating to Operate

Twist the handle. An invisible control opens the razor. Insert the blade. Twist the handle again—automatically the blade moves into correct shaving position and is locked there.

Patented Corinthian Handle

The patented Corinthian handle is tapered to fit your hand as comfortably as your fountain pen. It has perfect balance, an amazingly pleasing grip. Richly gold plated, the new Gem Micromatic Razor is absolutely clean and sanitary.

Gives Glorious Shaves

You shave...you hardly feel the blade's stroke. Lightly it coasts down your cheeks—leaving your skin absolutely clean, marvelously comfortable.

SHAVERS SAY "MARVELOUS"

Men exactly like you—with the same kind of beard—shaving under the same conditions—have tested the new Gem Micromatic Razor and Blades. They were looking for trouble. They were asked their frank critical opinion to discover possible flaws before the razor was offered for sale. 84% were wildly enthusiastic. They couldn't praise the razor enough. 11% said it was a great razor. All liked it and wanted to know where they could get more blades. 5% were indifferent. Think of it! 95% thought this new Gem Micromatic was marvelous. This is a most amazing record.

Product of American Safety Razor Corp., Brooklyn, N. Y.

SURGICAL STEEL BLADE TAKES KEENER EDGE

Science Produces Blade that Holds Edge Longer

Changes in machinery and in steel production have combined to give the new Gem Micromatic Blade the keenest, most economical edge in the history of shaving.

Overcomes Blade Difficulty

New surgical steel has been developed that solves the blade maker's oldest problem, eliminating saw teeth from edges. Under the microscope, these saw teeth are completely absent from the new Gem Micromatic Blades.

Gives Many Extra Shaves

Another amazing feature of the new blade is its long life. Each blade gives many extra shaves. Men report that the new Gem Micromatic stays keen longer than any other blade.

Government Grants Patents

In recognition of the original features of the new Gem Micromatic Blade, the U. S. Government has granted it Patents No. 1,739,280 and 1,773,614 which insure shavers against inferior blades.

COAST TO COAST RAZOR TESTS

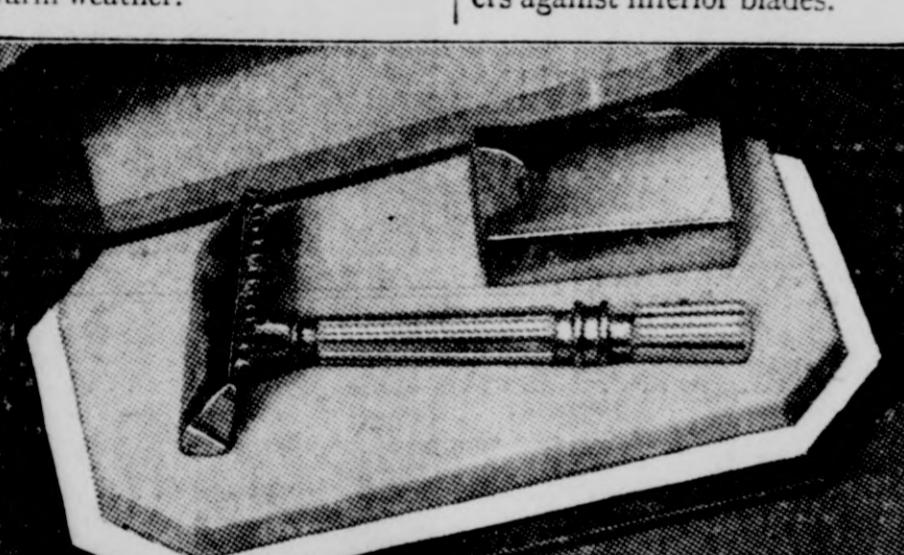

Prove Universal Success

7,392 men in 102 cities from coast to coast have made an unusual test. They received a mysterious razor from a disinterested party. No name or price identified it.

They submitted this razor to the most critical tests. They shaved under every conceivable condition. 6,991 men preferred it to any razor they had ever used.

If you have had any experience with tests, you know that 95% approval is the nearest any product can come to perfection.

These men from every walk and position in life had every type of skin and beard. They shaved with hard and cold water, in cold and warm weather.

Built to $5 Specifications—Priced $1

The new Gem Micromatic Razor set is the most magnificent shaving outfit ever designed. The razor has been made like the finest of jewels, built with microscopic precision, finished with the highest quality gold plate.

The razor and five blades are presented in an exquisite box which might well have come from Fifth Avenue's most exclusive jeweler. The entire set has been made and packaged as though it were to be sold for $5.

Yet in spite of the richness of manufacture, this razor set costs you only $1. Your dealer is now prepared to supply you. See him today so that you can begin enjoying the new Gem Micromatic tomorrow.

Road Opening Plans Complete

Celebration Of Completion Of Perry Highway Scheduled For October 8

MANY TOWNS WILL SHARE PROGRAM

Preparations for the formal opening of the Perry highway between Pittsburgh and Sheakleyville, which is to take place in Mercer on Wednesday, October 8, are advanced to the stage where the committee in charge is now assured of the success of the celebration providing the weather is favorable.

It promises to be an event in the history of the town which has been the scene of many notable gatherings in the past. The speaking list will be composed of national and state figures. The committee feels certain that Secretary of Labor James J. Davis will find it to be here in time to take part in the program. He is to be in Ambridge in the forenoon, and arrangements are being made to bring him to Mercer by automobile.

Many Notables Coming.

Governor Fisher will be here, and the other speakers will be State Highway Commissioner James L. Stuart, Secretary of Agriculture Charles Jordan, Chief Engineer Samuel Eckles, District Engineer T. C. Frame and Director of State Publications John Dight. The latter is a native of Mercer county, his father being the late Rev. John M. Dight, superintendent of the schools of Mercer county from 1875 to 1878. Mr. Dight was born in Sandy Lake.

Among the guests will be the officers and executive committee of the Perry Highway association, who started the fight to have the Perry highway taken over by the state and paved as a primary route and kept up the fight until today they see their efforts crowned with success, and the route one of the finest in the nation. Other members of the association will be on the guest list. In addition to these will be the burgesses and mayors of the towns of western Pennsylvania, and leading citizens of the different communities. The different boards of county commissioners of Mercer county who have served while the movement to have the road improved was under way will be guests, as well as the present boards of county commissioners of the counties through which the route passes.

The parade committee has been busy gathering features for the parade and securing the cooperation of other communities along the route of the highway, and are receiving the hearty cooperation of all. The historical features will be largely in the hands of the Mercer members and will consist of floats and features portraying early scenes of western Pennsylvania, dating back to when Benjamin Stokley, the first settler, came into the county as the surveyor, plotting land grants, to the present day.

Many of the types of vehicles which have passed over the road will have a prominent place in the parade. These will be followed by a collection of the early makes of automobiles. In addition to these features there will be community floats from towns between Pittsburgh and Sheakleyville. The towns and cities that have informed the committee that they will take part are Pittsburgh, Zelienople, Harlansburg, Leesburg, Mines Nos. 2 and 5 of the Sharon Coal & Lime-stone company, New Castle, Sharon, Farrell, Fredonia, Hartogenic, Greenville and it is expected that several other towns will be heard from. Millburn grange is also to have a float, as well as the Middletown section of the Perry highway in Col Spring township.

Population figures are hard to remember, but you can guess the size of a town by the number of holes on its golf course.—The Little Rock Arkansas Democrat.

Naval Tug Sends Out Distress Call

U. S. S. Montcalm, Reports Being Afire 300 Miles Off Bahamas, Aid Is Rushed

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The U. S. S. Concord today was speeding to the aid of the U. S. S. Montcalm, naval tug, afire 300 miles east of the Bahamas, according to the radio marine bureau here.

The bureau picked up the SOS sent out by the Montcalm last night and later heard the Concord advise she was speeding to the aid of the stricken tug. The extent of the fire on the Montcalm was not learned and the number of men on the tug was also unknown.

Dr. Fiske Gives Long Life Recipe

(International News Service)
PARIS, Oct. 3.—Eat, drink and be merry, but don't forget to work hard, too—this is the recipe for a happy and useful life, according to Dr. Lyman Fiske, director of hygiene and of the Life Extension institute, who is now spending some time on the continent.

"I would be the last one to suggest a general slowing down," says Dr. Fiske. "Life has to be lived and nothing is to be gained by abandoning action. An interesting and constructive life, even if it is short, is perhaps well worth the price."

"Man has three outlets: intoxication, love and work. The chief American outlet is work. Through love man may gain leisure. It is a good check on both intoxication and work. It's not a bad idea to mix the three about even."

11. Daniel Boone—Trouble On The Frontier

DURING THE WINTER OF 1773-1774, THE BORDER SETTLERS WERE ALARMED BY REPORTS THAT THE INDIANS, ANGERED BY THE INVASION OF THEIR HUNTING GROUNDS BY THE WHITES, WERE MAKING READY TO ATTACK THE FRONTIER SETTLEMENTS.

(Copyright, 1930 by J. Carroll Mansfield)

IN THE SPRING OF 1774 THE INDIANS BEGAN TO SHOW THEIR HAND. IN APRIL A PARTY OF VIRGINIA SURVEYORS, DESCENDING THE GREAT KANAWHA TO THE OHIO, WAS FIRED UPON BY SHAWNEES HIDDEN ON THE BANK.

Lord Dunmore, royal governor of Virginia, who wished to open the fertile region beyond the frontier to white settlement, prepared to send a strong force to subdue the hostile Indians.

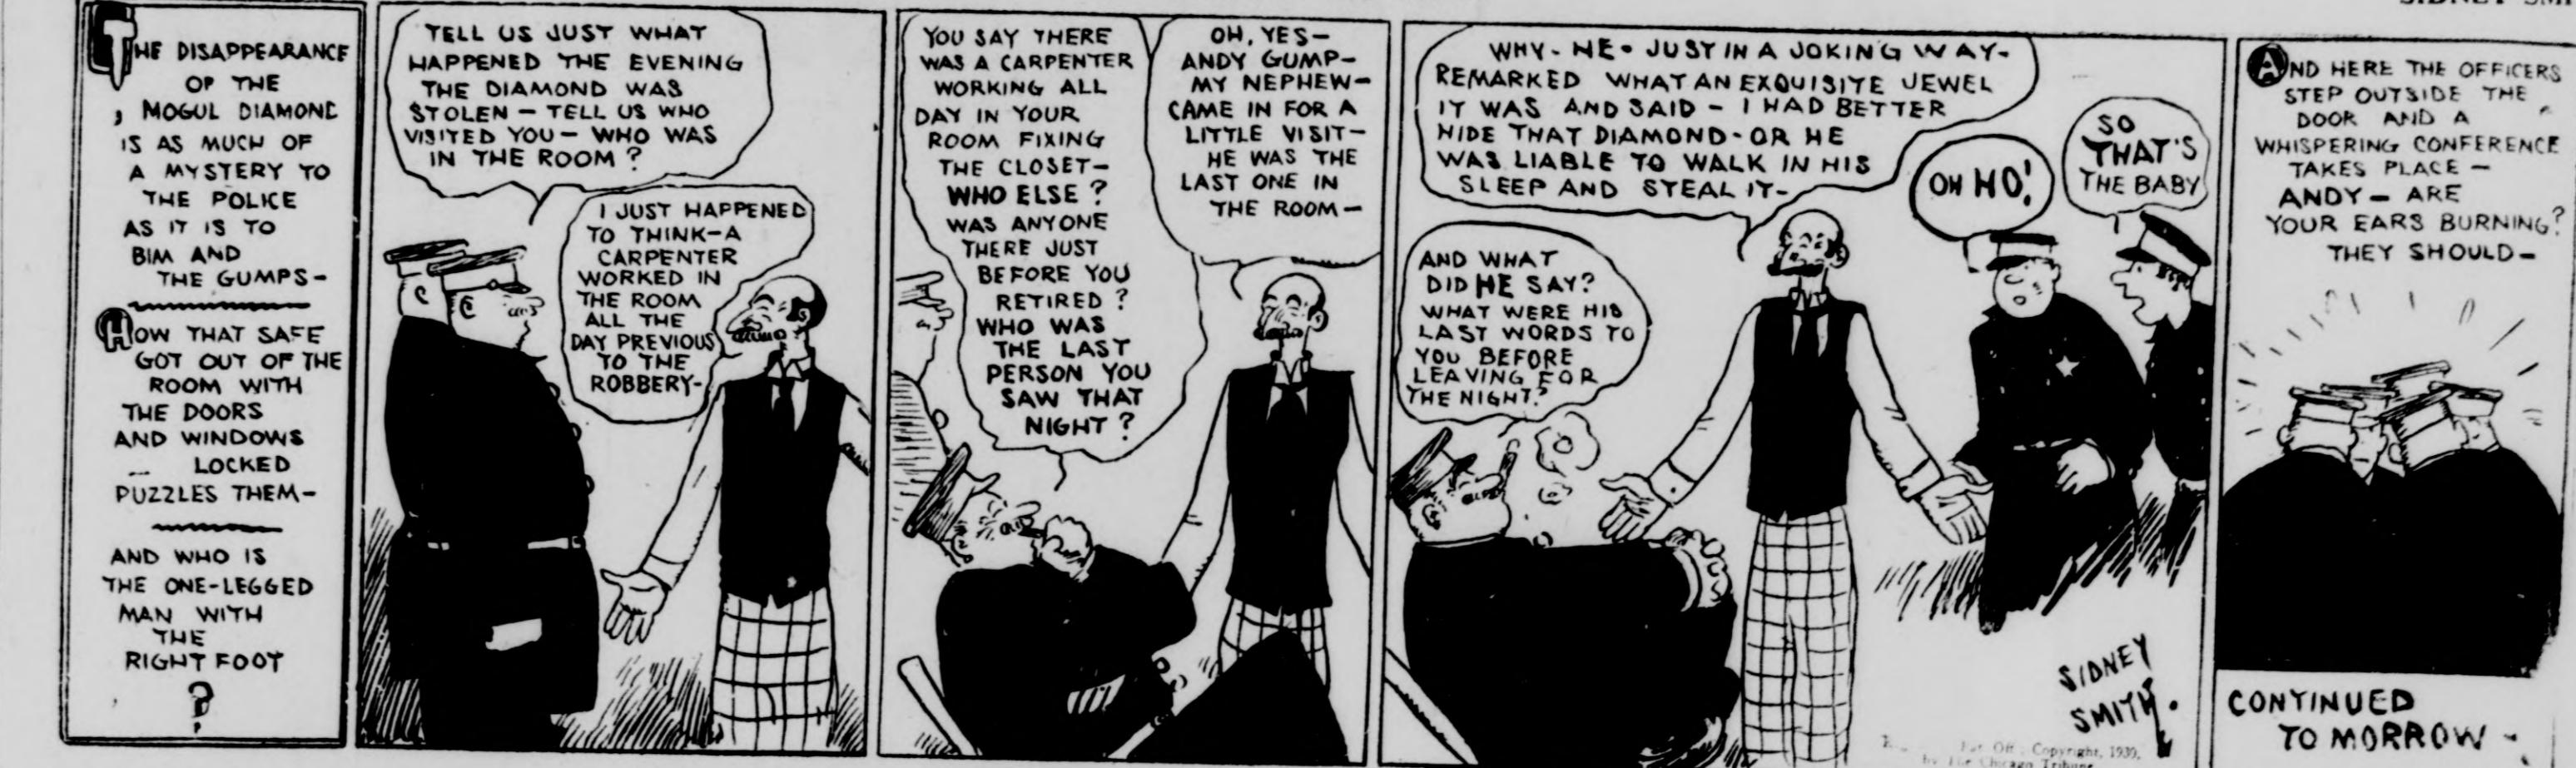

DANIEL BOONE, THE MAN MOST FAMILIAR WITH THE WILDERNESS TRAILS, WAS SENT POSTHASTE TO WARN ALL THE SURVEYORS AND HUNTERS TO GET OUT OF THE KENTUCKY COUNTRY BEFORE HOSTILITIES COMMENCED.

Aliquippa High Substitutes—Robinson tackle, 70; Shaffer, center, 48; Sullivan, center, 33; Velpny, guard, 46; Walker, quarterback, 51; Wasovich, right halfback, 56; Markovich, halfback, 45; Charles, halfback, 42; Hosman, tackle, 47; Helle, end, 53; Joseph, tackle, 62; McKinley, end, 60; Masich, end, 35; Musocich, end 61; Perriello halfback, 44.

Tonight at Taggart Field the New Castle High School football team will meet its hardest opponents so far this season when the local red and black machine clashes with Aliquippa High. The game will start at 8:00.

Many fans remember the battle the Aliquippa team gave the local warriors last year and forecasts are that the visitors are coming here to avenge for that 12-6 defeat in the best home game last season here. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh announced this morning that his lineup will be somewhat revised with Jimmy Mike playing at left guard, Dick Thomas at fullback, Fred Fabian at halfback and Dave Harris may be used in place of Andy Lasky at halfback.

This combination will be given a tryout tonight and if it proves to be to the liking of Coach Bridenbaugh it may be a permanent line-up for the remainder of the season. Then again, if it does not function properly, the same eleven which has defeated Coraopolis and Grove City will be sent into the fracas tonight. Coach Bridenbaugh believes that with Jimmy Mike on the line the local wall will be a hard one to penetrate. Mike tips the beam at over 200 pounds.

The remainder of the line will be the same as that which opened the season. Robert Jameson, who has been out for over a week due to an infected jaw, will take his old post at left end. In case he is unable to continue the contest, William Ciccone will be called to cover that territory. In the backfield two or three changes will be seen. Fred Fabian, who for the past two games has played fullback, will likely be seen at Dick Thomas' post at halfback. Thomas playing fullback.

Due to the speed of Thomas and his football experience, it is believed that he will prove a good fullback.

Practice Games Over For Most College Elevens

College Grid Teams Start Battling Arch-Rivals Tonight And Saturday

PITT-MOUNTAINEERS GAME HEADLINES

By GEORGE E. DOYING
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 3.—With practice games virtually completed, college football, king of fall sports, will get under way in dead earnest this week-end with practically every representative of the institutions of higher learning in western Pennsylvania and West Virginia scheduled to meet annual arch-grid foes.

Dukes vs. Detroit

Duquesne with a fifty-fifty split in its two games played this season, will take the field tonight in an attempt to better its rating in the "game won" column by sending the Detroiters back home on the short end of the score.

Coach Elmer Layden, one of Knute Rockne's famous "Four Horsemen" at Notre Dame a few years back, has been drilling his charges constantly all week in preparation for the battle which is expected to be landing one to suit him.

Aliquippa Real Opponents

Coach Nate Lippe of the valley boys feels confident that his grididers will give the locals one of the hardest contests this year. He said the same thing last year, and what a game it turned out to be. On paper it looks like the game tonight will be an acid test for the locals. Fans will have an opportunity to see just how the red and black team shapes up against a strong opponent.

Aliquippa High proved its strength against Charleroi High last Friday night in the season opener. Charleroi, an annual contender for the W. P. I. A. L., had been touted as having an exceptionally good team this season and was generally filed.

Collapse Fatal To Prize Fighter

Battling Nelson, Welterweight Fighter, Dies In Ring, Result Of Collapse

(International News Service)

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Oct. 3.—An inquest was to be held today into the death of Battling Nelson, Waterloo welterweight fighter, who collapsed and died in the ring here last night.

Nelson fell unconscious at the end of the fifth round of his semi-windup bout with Kid Leonard of East Malone, Ill. Before he died Nelson rallied twice as Dr. R. A. Vordahl, coroner, worked over him with the aid of other physicians.

Dr. Vordahl ascribed the fighter's death to over-exertion and possible heart failure.

The fight was awarded to Leonard on a technical knockout. Nelson had been fighting in the welterweight division for five years.

Gridiron Gossip

Geneva and Canisius will battle to-morrow at Reeves Stadium, Beaver Falls. The game will be played under the flood-lights. The Geneva boys will battle hard for a victory in their third game of the season. St. Vincent was dropped 25 to 0 but Bucknell walloped the Conventines.

The Thiel eleven takes a big chunk when they meet the Carnegie Tech team at the Stadium tomorrow afternoon. The Thiel team is being looked up to by the Steffen coached team through their good showing against Temple in the opening set. Coach Steffen will start his regular team tomorrow, which indicates that the Scotchmen are not taking any chances with the Greenville outfit.

Down in Pittsburgh tonight Duquesne University meets Detroit Tech under the lights at Forbes Field. The Layden coached team is after a victory over the fast Detroit team. Duquesne will start the second team again tonight, with Nickie DeCarbo, former New Castle boy at a guard berth.

The Dukes must win tonight to stay above the 500 mark for the games to date. West Virginia beat them, and Slippery Rock fell easy victims.

Grove City-St. Francis battle to-night at Farrell, Pa., under the arc-lights. The Crimson eleven has long been a thorn in the side of the St. Francis team, and visa versa. Coach Berry has given the Grovers a lot of attention this week, and hopes to have them in shape for a tough battle this evening. The Grovers opened their season last week by trouncing Morris-Harvey 90-0.

Reports current were that Ruppert had already signed McCarthy and that announcement would be made of the deal after the world series.

Meanwhile it was reported the Boston Red Sox had offered McCarthy a contract at his own figure. Some had it the former Cub manager was debating whether to sign with the Sox at $40,000 a year.

Union-Scienceville Are Battling Today

Today Union High School football team goes to Scienceville, Ohio, for their third game of the year. Coach David Morgan Boyd is anxious for a victory today to avenge that setback received at the hands of Ellwood City High. The Union squad is in good shape for the game.

Scienceville will probably outweigh the Union team. They are reported to have a couple of 200 pound guards.

Cardinals Fighting With Backs To Wall For Series Victory

Teams Travel To St. Louis
Today For Third Game
Of Classic Saturday

Manager Street Will Send Hallahan To Mound Against Walberg

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Sports Writer

ABOARD WORLD SERIES SPECIAL ENROUTE TO ST. LOUIS, Oct. 3.—Two ball clubs very much in the public eye, the Philadelphia Athletics and the St. Louis Cardinals, were speeding toward St. Louis where they will clash tomorrow in the third game of the 1930 world series. The A's, with two victories tucked away in their bat bags, were carefree and jubilant while the Red Birds were a thoughtful and somewhat pensive aggregation.

The belief is growing that the A's are too formidable for the Cards. The consensus is that this series will end in St. Louis where three games are scheduled. Many competent baseball judges would not be surprised to see the A's take the Cardinals four straight.

Joe McCarthy who lifted the Cubs to a place where they meant something is awaiting an offer from the Pirates, it is reported. Feeling that his discharge hurt his prestige McCarthy wants to land with a team that has pennant possibilities. The Yanks and Pirates have this complexion.

Nationals Look Bad.
The National league entry has made an amazingly poor showing so far in the series. The Cards claim "the breaks" beat them the opening combat but they had no alibi for yesterday's defeat. They didn't hit, they didn't field and their starting pitcher, Flint Rhem, didn't pitch. They were simply outclassed.

Something will have to be done about the sorry showing the National league is making in the annual baseball classics. The National leagues have lost 14 of the last 15 world series games that have been played. Last year the Chicago Cubs dropped four games out of five to the A's, the year before the Cardinals lost four straight to the New York Yankees and in 1927 the Yankees took four in a row from the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Must Apply Brakes.
It's beginning to look as if the American league is the real big league circuit. In the 26 series played from 1903 to 1929 inclusive the American league has won 16 and the National 10.

Unless the Cardinals apply the brakes mighty quickly they are sunk and the American league will win its 17th series. The Cardinals are not playing the kind of ball that enabled them to kill off the Cubs, Giants and Robins in the pennant race. Douthit and Bottomley haven't made a hit in the series. The St. Louis team has made only three runs in two days on 15 hits, whereas the A's have made 11 runs on only 12 hits.

Manager Connie Mack of the A's is now in a position to win the series with only two pitchers—Grove and Earnshaw. Both thrive on plenty of work. Grove could go back at the Cards tomorrow and Earnshaw on Sunday, and if they both won again the series would be over.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

The Cardinals are standing with their backs to the wall having lost the second straight world series game to the Athletics yesterday 6-1. Earnshaw held the Red Birds in the pinches. Rhem was relieved in the fourth by Lindsey who pitched two innings and gave way to Johnson. Lindsey and Johnson pitched good ball. They allowed no hits and no runs were scored during their turn on the mound. Cochrane and Watkins home runs. The teams are to play the next game in St. Louis, Saturday.

The high cost of competitive golf has forced Johnny Goodman of Omaha to withdraw from such strug- gles. Left penniless with nine young brothers and sisters to care for Johnny made what he could as a a job to keep the family together.

Joe McCarthy who lifted the Cubs to a place where they meant something is awaiting an offer from the Pirates, it is reported. Feeling that his discharge hurt his prestige McCarthy wants to land with a team that has pennant possibilities. The Yanks and Pirates have this complexion.

Talking about the Big Four of the series, here's how they hit yesterday: Frisch, two base hit; Bottomley, no hits; Cochrane, hit a Homer; Simmons, two base hits, a single and a double. Cochrane turned in one of the Athletics runs having got on an error and scored on Simmons double. Simmons scored on Foxx's double and when he hit his double drove in Cochrane and he scored himself on Miller's single.

Geneva and Canisius play tonight at Beaver Falls.

The Franklin stadium will hold its biggest crowd of the season so far, when Aliquippa meets the Red and Black here tonight. Aliquippa is reported as having a very strong team and some fans believe Ne-Ca-Hi may be defeated.

George Watkins landed in the lap of fame in an uncertain manner yesterday at Philadelphia. The Cardinal outfielder hit a home run in his first time at bat in his first world series game. The ball was hit over the right field wall in the second inning. He had two balls and two strikes when he made the home run.

Jimmy Belmont of Braddock had an easy time with Johnny Popicz of Wheeling last night at McKeepsport. He stopped Johnny in the fourth round.

Washington Takes Over Midgets, 14-0

Set Now For First Real Game With Union Second Team
Next Monday

George Washington junior high school's 14 to 0 win over the Carnegie Midgets at the Washington field yesterday stimulated them with greater confidence for their opening game with Union high school's second team next Monday. The game will be played at Union.

Fred Lane, intercepting a pass on Carnegie's 40-yard marker galloped behind his interference to Washington's first score of the year, while Wilbur Ramsey crossed the goal line on a straight line buck a few moments later. Both kicks for the extra point were good.

A crowd of junior high students witnessed the afternoon workout. Daniel Carroll, Slippery Rock, refereed.

Earnshaw Hurls Fine Ball, Macks Take Second Game

George Earnshaw Fans Eight Cardinals As Athletics Win Second Game Of Series

TEAMS ON WAY TO ST. LOUIS TODAY

Cochrane And Watkins Pole Home Runs—Cardinals Down Two To Philadelphia Boys

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SHIBE PARK, Philadelphia, Oct. 3.—St. Louis' chances of winning the 1930 world series took a sharp drop Thursday afternoon when the Philadelphia Athletics gave them a sound thrashing, beating them 6 to 1, for their second consecutive victory in the annual baseball classic. The Cardinals were completely outclassed.

Flint Rhem, one of the Cardinals' best right handed pitchers, was knocked out of the box in the fourth inning. He had nothing that could baffle the A's.

Earnshaw Goes Well
George Earnshaw, the A's big right hander, went the route and held the Cardinals to six scattered hits.

Earnshaw would have shut out the Red Birds had not young George Watkins, Cards' right fielder, got hold of Earnshaw's fast ones, and drove it over in right field for the lone St. Louis tally.

"Mickey" Cochran, the A's crack catcher, also belted a Homer over the same wall. It was his second home run in the series. Watkins propelled his four bagger in his first time at bat in a world series.

He was not used in right field by the Cardinals yesterday.

Capacity Crowd

A capacity crowd of 32,295 spectators witnessed the second downfall of the Cards. The weather fine and the partisan Philadelphia fans had a most enjoyable afternoon.

The game was only a few minutes old when the A's pushed across two runners. Manager Connie Mack had apparently decided on an offensive game right from the start. Bishop and Dykes, the first two men to face Rhem, were seedy outs, but Cochran slammed the ball over the right field fence for his second Homer of the series. Simmons then followed with a single to center and Foxx scored with a sizzling two-bagger that danced along the wall in right center.

The Cardinals got their home run in the second inning when Watkins drove the ball out of the park. The Red Birds threatened to get at least another run in this frame when Manusco and Gelbert hit successive singles, but Earnshaw had too much "stuff" for the next two hitters, Rhem and Douthit.

After the A's had gone out in one-to-three order in the home half of the second, the Cardinals came in to bat in the first of the third and got two runners on base as a result of errors by Boley and Cochran.

"Ernie" Bears Down
A timely single would have given them a score, but Earnshaw "bore down" and forced Adams to fly to Miller and fanned Bottomley and Hafey, the two "singe guns" of the Cardinal attack.

In the home half of the third, the A's broke out again and scored two more runs. With two men out, Cochran got life on an error by Frisch. A minute later Simmons lashed a double into right and Mickey scored. Foxx was purposely passed but Bing Miller crossed up the St. Louis board of strategy by singling to deep left to score Simmons. Rhem got an error when he fumbled Hafey's relay into the infield and allowed Foxx and Miller to each advance a base.

The misplay did not cause any further damage, however, for Rhem, the next batter, flied to Douthit for the third out.

And then—in the fourth inning—the A's sewed the ball game up by registering two more tallies, running the score up to 6 to 1 from which it did not change for the rest of the game.

Boley started the inning by singling through Gelbert. After Earnshaw had fanned, Bishop drew a walk. Then Jimmy Dykes poled a beautiful double between Hafey and Douthit and the ball rolled to the fence in left center. Boley and Bishop scampered over the home plate while the Cards were getting the ball back into the infield.

Relief Pitcher Good
This was enough for Rhem and he was relieved in the box by big Jim Lindsey. From then on the A's didn't make a single hit but they had made enough. Lindsey pegged fast ones at the Philadelphia batters with splendid results until he was taken out of the game in the seventh to allow pinch hitter Fisher to strike out for him.

Sylvester Johnson, a big right hander, finished the game for the Cardinals and also held the A's hitless. Rhem was charged with the loss of the game.

The Cards were hardly in the running today. They were cleanly beaten Wednesday but Thursday they were impressively whipped. The series now stands two victories for the A's as against no defeats. With only two more victories to go, the Athletics are now prohibitive favorites to again win the world championship.

Thursday both clubs went to St.

Louis where the series will be resumed on Saturday.
